Armed Convoys Proposed If Reds Barricade Berlin

West Germans Said To Favor Get-Tough Idea

BERLIN (AP)—Western experts Monday night studied—many with grave doubts—proposals to ram armed convoys through any Communist blockade of West Berlin.

Talk of tank-led convoys and armored trains is heard from some Western officials in the event of an East German blockade of this isolated city.

It is one proposed answer if — as expected shortly — the Soviet Union transfers to East Germany controls over Western lifelines to West Berlin.

The West Germans are balking at an alternative plan under study by the United States, Britain and France for accepting East German controls on a nonrecognition basis.

"I think it is an impossible idea that the Western powers place themselves under the control of the regime in East Germany," said West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt in a radio interview Monday.

Reds Might Start Shooting

In Bonn, West German Foreign Office sources said the get-tough idea is gaining ground among the Western Allies. That's what the West Germans want.

Some of the get-tough thinking supposes that East Germany and the Soviet Union would back off from armed Allied convoys rather than clash with the West. But the prospect that the Communists might start shooting makes many shudder.

To understand why, it is only necessary to look at the practical military problems of running a gauntlet to West Berlin, 100 miles behind the Iron Curtain. The bulk of supplies for Western garrisons come in on a railroad from West Germany. The military trains — under four-power accords — are pulled into West Berlin from the West German border by Communist locomotives.

Trains Easily Blocked

Armored trains would not have much chance of breaking through if the East Germans decided to leave strings of freight cars parked on the rails.

East Germany's transport minister, Erwin Kramer, put it bluntly in an article published by the Communist youth newspaper Junge Welt.

"West Berlin lies on the territory of the DDR (East Germany) and all traffic arteries—no matter whether they are water, land or air—pass over the territory of the DDR. That's how it is and that's how it will remain."

For Western soldiers, the dangers of pushing a tank-led supply convoy up the 110-mile highway is even more nightmarish. Soviet military forces in East Germany, which overwhelmingly outnumber Atlantic Pact divisions in Europe, could cut the highway at any point.

Pre-Holiday Strike Wave Hits Airlines

Two Major Lines Grounded, Another Faces Tieup Today

By The Associated Press

A strike by flight engineers and machinists against Eastern Air Lines Monday left the air transport industry with two of its major carriers grounded just before the Thanksgiving holiday rush.

Six hundred members of the Flight Engineers International Assn. left their jobs at Eastern in a protest against taking pilot training courses, and 5,500 members of the International Assn. of Machinists joined them in a separate contract dispute.

Trans World Airlines was immobilized in the fourth day of a strike by IAM employes after a breakdown of contract negotiations.

American Faces Strike

A third major carrier, American Airlines, was threatened with a strike by 1,491 pilots, members of the Air Line Pilots Assn., in a dispute involving pay, rules and working conditions.

The airlines labor picture also included a new strike Monday by 33 members of the Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Assn. against Lake Central Airlines, an employe-owned Midwest firm which continued flight operations with executives and administrative personnel replacing the strikers.

Capital Airlines, a major operator, was busy re-establishing service after settling a strike by the IAM Friday with a three-year agreement which would bring pay up 41 cents an hour in the third year, to $2.95 an hour.

Mutual Aid Pact

A strike by 86 mechanics at West Coast Airlines, serving 41 cities in Washington, Oregon and Idaho was ended Monday by a new contract agreement.

The strikes at Trans World and Eastern brought into play a recent mutual aid agreement among six major airlines—American, Capital, Eastern, Trans World, Pan American and United Air Lines.

Some equipment of the struck lines was taken over by other members of the compact to meet increased passenger, mail and cargo loads.

U.S.-Backed Plan Opposed By Soviet Bloc

Russia Intends To Boycott Group, Approved 54 To 9

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Political Committee voted Monday night to set up a study group on outer space despite the Soviet Union's announced intention to boycott it.

By a vote of 54 to 9 with 18 abstentions the committee decided to create an 18-nation study group that would lay the foundation for a permanent U. N. body on exploration of outer space for peaceful purposes.

The entire Soviet bloc was opposed to the creation of the study group as recommended in a resolution sponsored by the United States and 19 other nations.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared the study would be fruitful without the participation of the Soviet Union.

But the relatively large number of abstentions reflected the somber opinion of many of the smaller U. N. members that no real progress can be made without U. S.-Soviet agreement.

U. S. — Russ Talks Rejected

The committee rejected a last minute proposal by India, Burma and the United Arab Republic to bring the United States and the Soviet Union together again in private talks in an effort to break the East-West deadlock.

Lodge declared there was no use to bring the two sides together at this time, and the proposal was defeated 25 opposed, 14 in favor and 42 abstentions.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin withdrew a Soviet resolution proposing the creation of an 11-nation study group. It specified membership of the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania.

Speaking directly to Lodge, the Soviet representative said: "The United States wants to gain a majority. Well sir, you've got your majority. Go ahead and vote it."

He asserted that no progress would be made without Soviet participation, and that a year from now the U. N. would find itself in the same position as it is today.

Major Factor In Collapse

Lodge declared the Soviet Union's insistence upon putting three Soviet satellite nations on the study group in addition to itself was the major factor in the collapse of East-West negotiations to achieve agreement.

The U. S.-backed resolution called on the study group to report back to next year's General Assembly on activities and resources of the U. N., its specialized agencies andd other international bodies relating to peaceful uses of outer space.

It would have the group take special note of continuation of outer space research conducted within the framework of the International Geophysical Year.

The group would also support an organization of mutual exchange of information on outer space research, and coordination of national research programs on the same subject. It would also go into the complex legal problems connected with use of outer space.

President Orders Penetrating Study Of U.S. Military Aid

Draper Heads Blue-Ribbon Committee

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower Monday ordered a penetrating evaluation of the U. S. military aid program with the goal of bolstering free world defenses. And he picked a blue ribbon committee to conduct the study.

Republican William H. Draper Jr., undersecretary of the Army in the Truman administration and a former ambassador to NATO under Eisenhower, was named chairman of a nine-member committee with wide experience in key government jobs.

Draper, 64, directed the Berlin airlift from Washington during the Communist blockade nearly 10 years ago. He now makes his home in Mexico City as board chairman of the Mexican Power and Light Co.

The President's appointment of Draper to lead what Eisenhower termed "a completely independent, objective, nonpartisan analysis" of the military assistance program was announced after they had conferred for 45 minutes at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Then Draper flew back to Washington for a first meeting with other members of the new committee at the White House. The members include James E. Webb, who was former President Truman's budget director, and three retired military men who once held top posts.

The three are Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1953-57; Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe and now president of the American Red Cross; and Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of U.S. forces in Europe in 1945.

Eisenhower ordered the study in the midst of his drive to cut federal spending. For the fiscal year which started July 1 the administration asked Congress for $1,800,000,000 in military aid funds and got 1½ billion dollars.

As for chances Eisenhower might ask for even less for the next fiscal year, Draper told a news conference here:

"From my talks with the President, I understand this is to be neither an economy or anti-economy drive."

Draper added that Eisenhower wants a cold-blooded evaluation of the military aspects of the overall foreign aid program.

Eisenhower called especially for determination of the relative emphasis to be placed on military aid on the one hand and economic assistance on the other.

Dulles Asserts West United On Berlin Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles asserted Monday the Western powers will act with unity and firmness to defend West Berlin against Communist threats.

He emphasized this united stand to dispel reports that the United States, Britain, France and West Germany were split over how far to go in blocking the Soviet Union move to drive the Western Big Three out of the divided city.

Dulles made his comments at the airport as he returned from a five-day vacation on Lake Ontario to take personal charge of the State Department's Berlin policy.

In answering questions, he ruled out any immediate Allied meeting on Berlin which would dramatize the Allied intention of standing firm.

"The Soviets could always make one necessary, but we don't know yet what their plans are. There have been hints and suggestions but no clear indication of their intentions one way or the other," Dulles said.

"I am confident that whatever position they manifest will be met with unity and firmness."

West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe backed up Dulles' contention that there was no major differences about how to meet Soviet maneuvers.

As he left for emergency consultations with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Grewe told newsmen at the State Department: "I feel there is complete, basic agreement between our governments."

Ala. Pupil Placement Statute Ruled Valid By Supreme Court

Law Can't Be Used To Thwart Integration

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court Monday upheld the constitutionality of Alabama's pupil placement law despite arguments that it was designed solely to thwart the court's 1954 school integration order.

In a brief order, the high court affirmed the decision last May of a three-judge federal court which held that the law is valid provided it is properly administrated and not used merely to keep Negroes out of the public schools because of their race.

The lower court said the state law on its face sets up machinery for administering schools "in a constitutional manner by the admission of qualified pupils upon a basis of individual merit without regard to their race or color".

The opinion said the record did not show that the four Negro children, who challenged the law, were excluded from the white schools of their choice on the basis of anything but a proper test.

But the lower court emphasized that the statute could be declared unconstitutional in some future suit if it was administered in such a way that race was the primary factor in assigning pupils to various schools.

In affirming the lower court decision, the high court made it plain that it was acting only "on the limited grounds on which the district court rested its decision". Its order was unsigned, indicating it had the unanimous decision of the nine justices.

It was the first time the Supreme Court had ruled directly on pupil placement laws which were enacted by 10 Southern states in the wake of the court's decision banning the segregation of Negro and white students in the South's public schools.

The court has refused to interfere in the past, however, with lower court rulings striking down pupil placement laws of Virginia and Louisiana but upholding the validity of North Carolina's law.

Elephant Kills Circus Worker

GROVES, Tex. (UPI)—A circus elephant knocked James Donald Lloyd, 28, down with her trunk Monday and stood on her head upon his prone body.

She crushed Lloyd's head and chest and he died an hour later in a hospital in nearby Port Arthur.

Lloyd was from South Bend, Ind., and worked for the Hagen Brothers Circus, which is performing in Groves.

Lloyd and another worker walked by the elephant named "Dorothy." She was chained, but reached out with her trunk knocked Lloyd to the ground.

She butted him and tried to stand upon her head on his body. The first time she tried, she failed, but the second time she managed to get her hind feet into the air.

Deputy Sheriff Martin Carey said circus employes told him the killing was unprovoked and that Dorothy had attacked 11 persons before but never killed any until Lloyd came by.

Carey said she had an act in which she stood on her head above a circus performer.

Girl, 10, Slain; Neighbor Held

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty, blonde 10-year-old schoolgirl was raped and slain Monday, and her nude body cast beneath the staircase of her Bronx apartment house. Police later seized a 23-year-old neighbor and charged him with the crime.

The girl, Rose Ann Breen, slender and blue-eyed, was waylaid as she returned from a shopping errand for her family. Her clothes had been ripped from her body and she had been severely beaten on the head.

Detectives said a trail of blood led from the child's body to the second-floor apartment of Jerry Roth, who was found lying on his bed, clad in undershorts. Officers broke through a kitchen window after he refused to answer their knocks on the door.

Police claimed to have found bloodstained articles in Roth's apartment, and in an areaway a bloody shirt and a pair of men's shorts with laundrymarks similar to those on Roth's shirts.

Rose Ann's checked blouse, yellow socks and red sneakers were found in a garbage can outside the building. They had been stuffed into a shopping bag atop the head of lettuce she was bringing home from a neighborhood grocery.

Quick-Thinking Bystander Nabs Fleeing Bandit

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind. (UPI)—An alert bystander ran down and captured a frightened young bandit Monday minutes after he fled from the Citizens State Bank with $6,043 in loot.

Police identified the bandit as Paul D. Rhoads, 20, son of a prosperous Columbia City farm couple.

Hero of the chase was Jack Black, 23, who saw the bandit run out of the bank with a red bandanna mask dangling from his face.

Black jumped into his car, chased the fleeing holdup man two blocks to his getaway car, and blocked Rhoads from pulling away from the curb.

Then Black jumped out of his car, grabbed an unloaded shotgun from the back seat, and held Rhoads at gunpoint until Assistant Police Chief Lee Gross and patrolman Morris Carlile — who had seen the robbery in progress—reached the scene and took over.

30,000 To Cast Alaska Ballots

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Alaskan weather, which could vary from rain and sleet to subzero cold, was not expected to discourage the 30,000 voters who will cast ballots in the history-making election of officials for the 49th state Tuesday.

Alaskans will choose two new senators and a representative to be added to the United States Congress when President Eisenhower proclaims the giant northern territory the 49th state in the Union early next year.

Additionally the voters will select a governor for the first time and name 20 senators and 40 representatives to the first Alaska state Legislature.

The polls will open at 8 a.m., which is well before daylight in most of Alaska, and will close at 8 p.m. Because of the time differential results of the election will not be known until Wednesday in most of the United States. Poll closing time in western Alaska will be 1 a.m. Wednesday on the Eastern Seaboard.

Democrats were favored in most of the contests on the basis of the vote polled at the August primary election at which Alaskans approved statehood by a 6-1 majority. If there is no change the Democrats will capture two of the three seats in Congress and will dominate the state Legislature.

Army Patrol Kills 15 Cuban Rebels

HAVANA (UPI) —The Cuban army said in a communique Monday that 15 rebels were killed by a patrol in a surprise attack on Yareyal, six miles outside the city of Holguin.

The communique said the rebel dead included the chief of the group, who was not identified.

Private reports from Camaguey said the rebels attacked three trains in Central Cuba. There were no reports of casualties and the material damage appeared to be relatively minor.

Army intelligence agents in Havana detained two Cuban newspapermen for questioning regarding alleged conspiritorial activities.

The newsmen detained were Mario Kuchilan Sol and Raul Cepero Bonilla, both members of the staff of the newspaper Prensa Libre.

One Killed As Explosions Level Fireworks Plants

RANDOLPH, Mass. (AP)—Three explosions, each followed by huge sheets of flame, destroyed the main plants of two adjacent fireworks companies Monday, killing one man and injuring seven other persons.

The victim, John Vizziello, 64, Boston, was so badly burned that the body was unidentified for more than three hours.

Identification was made, largely, through a large belt buckle which Vizziello was known to have been wearing.

The deafening blasts turned the production centers of the Rockland Fireworks Co. and the Bay State Fireworks Co. into piles of rubble.

Damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Vizziello and about three others were at work in the Rockland plant at the time. No one was in the Bay State plant.

Two of the injured were in serious condition. They are Lewis Massere, 32, one of nine brothers who own Rockland, and a woman identified as Miss Emily Magnussen, about 22, Randolph.

One of the Massere brothers said Miss Magnussen was not an employe and probably was visiting the plant.

Massere and Miss Magnussen were found amid the ruins, most of their clothing torn off and their bodies covered with burns and cuts.

Also injured were Justin Aylward, Randolph, John F. Boyle, 46, Brockton, and John W. Mahoney, Randolph, all firefighters who were felled by the third blast; Herbert Cannon, 30, and James M. Haron, 27.

Birthday Greetings, Gifts Pour In To Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Greetings and gifts poured in from all over the world Monday for Pope John XXIII who will observe his 77th birthday Tuesday.

His birthday falls four weeks to the day after his elevation to the throne of St. Peter, but he planned no special ceremonies.

The Pope will recite Mass in his private chapel with members of the papal court in attendance. He was expected to follow the custom of his predecessor, Pope Pius XII, and work as usual throughout the day.

However, as is customary, the employes of the Vatican will get the day off.

Family's Pet Dog Kills 3-Year-Old Boy

ERIE, Pa. (UPI)—A 3-year-old boy was attacked and killed Monday by the family's pet dog in a barn near his home at nearby Harborcreek Twp.

State police said Michael Kaminski was seized by the 6-months-old German shepherd dog and bitten severely on the face and neck. The dog then dragged the boy to the rear of the barn where the victim died.

DAYTON, O. (UPI) — Dr. G. Douglas Talbott said Monday night Charles F. Kettering, 82, millionaire inventor of the auto self-starter and philanthropist, suffered a "slight stroke" Sunday night at his suburban home.

Six Slain In Two Denver Double Murder-Suicides

DENVER (UPI) — Six persons were shot to death in Denver during a 6-hour period Monday in what authorities called two double murder-suicides.

Officials said a suburban Lakewood man shot his wife and 3-year-old son and then turned the gun on himself, only a few hours after another man killed his daughter, a neighbor woman and himself.

Sheriff Arthur Wermuth said Raymond D. Bremer, 45, shot his wife Madeline, 44, and their son, Michael. Then, he telephoned the sheriff's office and informed them he was going to shoot himself. The dispatcher on the telephone at the sheriff's office then heard a shot.

When Wermuth and his deputies arrived at the Bremer home, they found all three dead.

Earlier, a Northwest Denver nurseryman, apparently incensed because he was in the "dog house," shot to death his daughter, an elderly neighbor woman and then turned the gun on himself.

He killed his wife 20 years ago.

Police said Horace Siragusa, 65 shot his daughter, Frances, 25, in the back of the head while she was at breakfast.

He ran from the house to the yard of his neighbor, where he killed Mrs. Mollie Jacks, 78. She was hanging up a wash.

Then, police said, Siragus shot himself with the .32-caliber automatic pistol.

Records showed that Siragusa shot and killed his wife in 1938 after she had shot him in the back. He was convicted of manslaughter, but was put on probation.

He emphasized this united stand to dispel reports that the United States, Britain, France and West Germany were split over how far to go in blocking the Soviet Union move to drive the Western Big Three out of the divided city.

Ala. Pupil Placement Statute Ruled Valid By Supreme Court

Law Can't Be Used To Thwart Integration

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court Monday upheld the constitutionality of Alabama's pupil placement law despite arguments that it was designed solely to thwart the court's 1954 school integration order.

In a brief order, the high court affirmed the decision last May of a three-judge federal court which held that the law is valid provided it is properly administrated and not used merely to keep Negroes out of the public schools because of their race.

The lower court said the state law on its face sets up machinery for administering schools "in a constitutional manner by the admission of qualified pupils upon a basis of individual merit without regard to their race or color".

The opinion said the record did not show that the four Negro children, who challenged the law, were excluded from the white schools of their choice on the basis of anything but a proper test.

But the lower court emphasized that the statute could be declared unconstitutional in some future suit if it was administered in such a way that race was the primary factor in assigning pupils to various schools.

In affirming the lower court decision, the high court made it plain that it was acting only "on the limited grounds on which the district court rested its decision". Its order was unsigned, indicating it had the unanimous decision of the nine justices.

It was the first time the Supreme Court had ruled directly on pupil placement laws which were enacted by 10 Southern states in the wake of the court's decision banning the segregation of Negro and white students in the South's public schools.

The court has refused to interfere in the past, however, with lower court rulings striking down pupil placement laws of Virginia and Louisiana but upholding the validity of North Carolina's law.

Elephant Kills Circus Worker

GROVES, Tex. (UPI)—A circus elephant knocked James Donald Lloyd, 28, down with her trunk Monday and stood on her head upon his prone body.

She crushed Lloyd's head and chest and he died an hour later in a hospital in nearby Port Arthur.

Lloyd was from South Bend, Ind., and worked for the Hagen Brothers Circus, which is performing in Groves.

Deputy Sheriff Martin Carey said circus employes told him the killing was unprovoked and that Dorothy had attacked 11 persons before but never killed any until Lloyd came by.

Carey said she had an act in which she stood on her head above a circus performer.

Girl, 10, Slain; Neighbor Held

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty, blonde 10-year-old schoolgirl was raped and slain Monday, and her nude body cast beneath the staircase of her Bronx apartment house. Police later seized a 23-year-old neighbor and charged him with the crime.

The girl, Rose Ann Breen, slender and blue-eyed, was waylaid as she returned from a shopping errand for her family. Her clothes had been ripped from her body and she had been severely beaten on the head.

Detectives said a trail of blood led from the child's body to the second-floor apartment of Jerry Roth, who was found lying on his bed, clad in undershorts. Officers broke through a kitchen window after he refused to answer their knocks on the door.

Police claimed to have found bloodstained articles in Roth's apartment, and in an areaway a bloody shirt and a pair of men's shorts with laundrymarks similar to those on Roth's shirts.

Rose Ann's checked blouse, yellow socks and red sneakers were found in a garbage can outside the building. They had been stuffed into a shopping bag atop the head of lettuce she was bringing home from a neighborhood grocery.

President Orders Penetrating Study Of U.S. Military Aid

Draper Heads Blue-Ribbon Committee

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower Monday ordered a penetrating evaluation of the U. S. military aid program with the goal of bolstering free world defenses. And he picked a blue ribbon committee to conduct the study.

Republican William H. Draper Jr., undersecretary of the Army in the Truman administration and a former ambassador to NATO under Eisenhower, was named chairman of a nine-member committee with wide experience in key government jobs.

Draper, 64, directed the Berlin airlift from Washington during the Communist blockade nearly 10 years ago. He now makes his home in Mexico City as board chairman of the Mexican Power and Light Co.

The President's appointment of Draper to lead what Eisenhower termed "a completely independent, objective, nonpartisan analysis" of the military assistance program was announced after they had conferred for 45 minutes at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Then Draper flew back to Washington for a first meeting with other members of the new committee at the White House. The members include James E. Webb, who was former President Truman's budget director, and three retired military men who once held top posts.

The three are Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1953-57; Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe and now president of the American Red Cross; and Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of U.S. forces in Europe in 1945.

Eisenhower ordered the study in the midst of his drive to cut federal spending. For the fiscal year which started July 1 the administration asked Congress for $1,800,000,000 in military aid funds and got 1½ billion dollars.

As for chances Eisenhower might ask for even less for the next fiscal year, Draper told a news conference here:

"From my talks with the President, I understand this is to be neither an economy or anti-economy drive."

Draper added that Eisenhower wants a cold-blooded evaluation of the military aspects of the overall foreign aid program.

Eisenhower called especially for determination of the relative emphasis to be placed on military aid on the one hand and economic assistance on the other.

Quick-Thinking Bystander Nabs Fleeing Bandit

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind. (UPI)—An alert bystander ran down and captured a frightened young bandit Monday minutes after he fled from the Citizens State Bank with $6,043 in loot.

Police identified the bandit as Paul D. Rhoads, 20, son of a prosperous Columbia City farm couple.

Hero of the chase was Jack Black, 23, who saw the bandit run out of the bank with a red bandanna mask dangling from his face.

Black jumped into his car, chased the fleeing holdup man two blocks to his getaway car, and blocked Rhoads from pulling away from the curb.

Then Black jumped out of his car, grabbed an unloaded shotgun from the back seat, and held Rhoads at gunpoint until Assistant Police Chief Lee Gross and patrolman Morris Carlile — who had seen the robbery in progress—reached the scene and took over.

30,000 To Cast Alaska Ballots

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Alaskan weather, which could vary from rain and sleet to subzero cold, was not expected to discourage the 30,000 voters who will cast ballots in the history-making election of officials for the 49th state Tuesday.

Alaskans will choose two new senators and a representative to be added to the United States Congress when President Eisenhower proclaims the giant northern territory the 49th state in the Union early next year.

Additionally the voters will select a governor for the first time and name 20 senators and 40 representatives to the first Alaska state Legislature.

The polls will open at 8 a.m., which is well before daylight in most of Alaska, and will close at 8 p.m. Because of the time differential results of the election will not be known until Wednesday in most of the United States. Poll closing time in western Alaska will be 1 a.m. Wednesday on the Eastern Seaboard.

Democrats were favored in most of the contests on the basis of the vote polled at the August primary election at which Alaskans approved statehood by a 6-1 majority. If there is no change the Democrats will capture two of the three seats in Congress and will dominate the state Legislature.

Army Patrol Kills 15 Cuban Rebels

HAVANA (UPI) —The Cuban army said in a communique Monday that 15 rebels were killed by a patrol in a surprise attack on Yareyal, six miles outside the city of Holguin.

The communique said the rebel dead included the chief of the group, who was not identified.

Private reports from Camaguey said the rebels attacked three trains in Central Cuba. There were no reports of casualties and the material damage appeared to be relatively minor.

Army intelligence agents in Havana detained two Cuban newspapermen for questioning regarding alleged conspiritorial activities.

The newsmen detained were Mario Kuchilan Sol and Raul Cepero Bonilla, both members of the staff of the newspaper Prensa Libre.

One Killed As Explosions Level Fireworks Plants

RANDOLPH, Mass. (AP)—Three explosions, each followed by huge sheets of flame, destroyed the main plants of two adjacent fireworks companies Monday, killing one man and injuring seven other persons.

The victim, John Vizziello, 64, Boston, was so badly burned that the body was unidentified for more than three hours.

Identification was made, largely, through a large belt buckle which Vizziello was known to have been wearing.

The deafening blasts turned the production centers of the Rockland Fireworks Co. and the Bay State Fireworks Co. into piles of rubble.

Damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Vizziello and about three others were at work in the Rockland plant at the time. No one was in the Bay State plant.

Two of the injured were in serious condition. They are Lewis Massere, 32, one of nine brothers who own Rockland, and a woman identified as Miss Emily Magnussen, about 22, Randolph.

One of the Massere brothers said Miss Magnussen was not an employe and probably was visiting the plant.

Massere and Miss Magnussen were found amid the ruins, most of their clothing torn off and their bodies covered with burns and cuts.

Also injured were Justin Aylward, Randolph, John F. Boyle, 46, Brockton, and John W. Mahoney, Randolph, all firefighters who were felled by the third blast; Herbert Cannon, 30, and James M. Haron, 27.

Birthday Greetings, Gifts Pour In To Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Greetings and gifts poured in from all over the world Monday for Pope John XXIII who will observe his 77th birthday Tuesday.

His birthday falls four weeks to the day after his elevation to the throne of St. Peter, but he planned no special ceremonies.

The Pope will recite Mass in his private chapel with members of the papal court in attendance. He was expected to follow the custom of his predecessor, Pope Pius XII, and work as usual throughout the day.

However, as is customary, the employes of the Vatican will get the day off.

Family's Pet Dog Kills 3-Year-Old Boy

ERIE, Pa. (UPI)—A 3-year-old boy was attacked and killed Monday by the family's pet dog in a barn near his home at nearby Harborcreek Twp.

State police said Michael Kaminski was seized by the 6-months-old German shepherd dog and bitten severely on the face and neck. The dog then dragged the boy to the rear of the barn where the victim died.

Kettering Stricken

DAYTON, O. (UPI) — Dr. G. Douglas Talbott said Monday night Charles F. Kettering, 82, millionaire inventor of the auto self-starter and philanthropist, suffered a "slight stroke" Sunday night at his suburban home.

Six Slain In Two Denver Double Murder-Suicides

DENVER (UPI) — Six persons were shot to death in Denver during a 6-hour period Monday in what authorities called two double murder-suicides.

Officials said a suburban Lakewood man shot his wife and 3-year-old son and then turned the gun on himself, only a few hours after another man killed his daughter, a neighbor woman and himself.

Sheriff Arthur Wermuth said Raymond D. Bremer, 45, shot his wife Madeline, 44, and their son, Michael. Then, he telephoned the sheriff's office and informed them he was going to shoot himself. The dispatcher on the telephone at the sheriff's office then heard a shot.

When Wermuth and his deputies arrived at the Bremer home, they found all three dead.

Earlier, a Northwest Denver nurseryman, apparently incensed because he was in the "dog house," shot to death his daughter, an elderly neighbor woman and then turned the gun on himself.

He killed his wife 20 years ago.

Police said Horace Siragusa, 65 shot his daughter, Frances, 25, in the back of the head while she was at breakfast.

He ran from the house to the yard of his neighbor, where he killed Mrs. Mollie Jacks, 78. She was hanging up a wash.

Then, police said, Siragus shot himself with the .32-caliber automatic pistol.

Records showed that Siragusa shot and killed his wife in 1938 after she had shot him in the back. He was convicted of manslaughter, but was put on probation.

Gaullists May Give Premier Trouble

PARIS (AP)—A compact rightist group called De Gaullists will be riding high in France's new National Assembly. Paradoxically, they may cause Premier de Gaulle a pack of trouble.

The big friction point is Algeria.

From results of Sunday's first-round Assembly elections, this appears clear: De Gaulle will be leading with a hard core of deputies with less liberal thinking than himself on that North African territory. A solid chunk of perhaps even more conservative deputies is expected to be sent to Paris from Algeria in Algerian balloting next weekend.

Last month De Gaulle took the unprecedented step of proposing safe passage for top rebel leaders to discuss a cease-fire in the four-year-old rebellion. A lively discussion developed over whether this might not amount to quasi-official recognition of the rebel organization.

De Gaulle earlier had proposed a sweeping five-year plan for boosting the economic and political status of Algeria's depressed nine million North Africans, a plan with a high price tag for France.

While trumpeting allegiance to De Gaulle, a number of the candidates who scored well Sunday find his Algerian thinking hard to stomach.

De Gaulle would have preferred a substantial moderate bloc to second him on Algeria and act as a counterweight.

However, the vote all but silenced the serious-minded moderate opposition. Ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France, for instance, was swamped by a little-known politician flying the banner of Jacques Soustelle's Gaullist Union for the New Republic (UNR).

Soustelle was the chief political architect of last May's Fascist-tinged revolt of French settlers in Algeria who insist on increased military action against the rebels and integration of Algeria with Metropolitan France.

Soustelle said the voters solidly supported the continuation of a "French Algeria" — a right-wing cry in which De Gaulle has never fully joined.

But De Gaulle is in a powerful position to press his own ideas.

He is expected to run for president in December. He would win hands down.

His tremendous personal popularity could see him through even against foot-dragging in the Assembly. The Assembly's powers are trimmed under the new constitution.

Enough Nuclear Bombs Stockpiled To Destroy Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are now enough nuclear bombs stockpiled to destroy the entire human race, the Council of the Federation of American Scientists reported Monday.

It added that there is not, and probably never will be, any defense against massive atomic attack.

Therefore the council urged the United States to agree to a permanent cessation of atomic weapons testing in the current negotiations with Russia at Geneva.

The agreement, the scientific group said in a statement, should be subject only to the condition that a test detection system be put into operation within an agreed period.

The Federation of American Scientists describes itself as a nationwide organization concerned with the interrelation of science and world affairs.

Three Hurt In Crash Of Bus And Truck

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three persons were injured and about 40 were shaken Monday in the collision of a transit bus and a tractor-trailer truck.

Police said about 40 passengers were aboard the bus when the collision occurred in East Baltimore during the morning traffic rush.

The truck driver, identified as Maurice J. Parker Jr. of Glen Burnie, suffered a leg injury and was charged with reckless driving.

Both of the other injured were bus passengers. They were identified as Mrs. Laurea Ferrana, 43, who was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital with possible back injuries, and Mrs. Doris Thompson, 44, who was taken to the hospital with possible elbow and pelvic injuries.

'Parkyakarkus' Collapses, Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — "Parkyakarkus," whose Greek dialect made him one of radio's great comedians in the 1930s, collapsed and died of a heart attack early Monday at a star-studded Friars Club dinner honoring Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

More than 1,200 show business celebrities watched in horrified silence as "Parky," whose real name was Harry Einstein, slumped in his seat and fell sideways into the arms of Milton Berle at the speaker's table.

Only seconds before, Einstein, 54, a permanent feature on the old Eddie Cantor radio show, had delivered what witnesses described as one of the funniest monologues of his career.

The echoes of laughter were still reverberating through the Grand Ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel as he walked back to his chair and touched toastmaster Art Linkletter.

Then he fell forward and grabbed the back of his chair. laughter stopped suddenly, and there was chilled silence as he collapsed into Berle's arms.

Five heart specialists in the audience rushed to Einstein's aid.

The comedian was carried by Berle, George Burns and actor John Bromfield to a small corridor behind the dias. There, on the floor, the doctors tried for nearly two hours to save his life.

Dean Coburn Elected Bishop Coadjutor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Very Rev. John Bowen Coburn, dean of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., was elected bishop coadjutor Monday of the Washington Episcopal Diocese.

He was chosen on the third ballot by clerical and lay delegates to the special diocesan convention at Washington Cathedral, receiving 69 of 102 clerical ballots cast and 65 of 104 lay ballots. Closest opponent was Dr. William F. Creighton, Bethesda, Md., who received 24 clerical and 22 lay votes.

As bishop coadjutor, Dean Coburn will succeed the Right Rev. Angus Dun as bishop when the latter retires. Coburn is 44 and a 1936 graduate of Princeton University.

Sheriff Takes Stand In Trial Of Libel Suit

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP)—Wicomico County Sheriff Jesse M. Pollitt testified Monday he felt he was maliciously libeled by an article in the Salisbury Times.

Pollitt is asking for $50,000 in his suit against the Brush-Moore Newspapers Inc., of Canton, Ohio, publishers of the Times.

Witnesses for the newspaper testified that an error referred to in the suit was caught and corrected for most of the press run and that on the following day a front page correction was carried.

The suit is based on a report of an auditing firm's recommendation for bookkeeping procedures in the sheriff's office. It was published in the Times Nov. 14, 1956.

In one of the recommendations the auditors report said "We examined the procedures for booking prisoners and found the record to be complete." In earlier copies of the Times the word "complete" appeared as "incomplete."

Pollitt, in reply to a question from his attorney, said "I'll never know how much I've been damaged." He said he received phone calls, was subjected to ridicule and was nervous and worried.

On cross-examination he was asked if he felt the newspaper had used the word "incomplete" intentionally. He replied, "Yes."

Counsel for the newspaper introduced into evidence a copy of the corrected article. In it the the word "incomplete" had been changed to "complete."

Richard L. Moore, news editor, took the stand and described how the error was corrected.

The trial resumes Tuesday. It is being heard by a jury in Worcester County where the case was transferred at the paper's request. Presiding are Judges W. Laird Henry, Rex A. Taylor and E. McMaster Duer.

Wife Can't Testify Against Husband

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Monday that a wife, even though she is willing, may not testify against her husband in a criminal case in federal court.

Justice Black, noting that the court in 1933 wiped out the rule forbidding testimony of one spouse in behalf of the other, commented:

"We are not prepared to say the same about the rule barring testimony of one spouse against the other.

"The basic reason the law has refused to pit wife against husband or husband against wife . . . was a belief that such a policy is necessary to foster family peace, not only for the benefit of husband, wife and children, but for the benefit of the public as well."

The court's eight other justices voted with Black in striking down the white slavery (Mann Act) conviction of James Clifton Hawkins, a dance hall operator of Dogpatch, Okla.

Pretty Social Worker, 22, Faces Murder Plot Trial

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—A tape recorder carried by a fake killer-for-hire, actually a detective, will support charges that a pretty social worker plotted the death of the wife of the state trooper she loved, authorities indicated Monday.

Blonde Barbara Ann Massey, 22-year-old college graduate, will go on trial in Mecklenburg County Recorder's Court Friday. She is charged with paying $500 to arrange to have a "fatal accident" befall her rival.

The daughter of a policeman, Miss Massey was alleged to have been enamored of another and to have been trapped by a third when she embarked on a fantastic murder scheme.

The case had its origin in a courtroom two years ago when Miss Massey, as a student at Wake Forest, attended Guilford County Superior Court sessions to improve her knowledge of law. There she encountered Highway Patrolman Ransome Smith, handsome, married and the father of two, who appeared as a witness.

Smith, who police said had no knowledge of the alleged plot, admitted he had seen Miss Massey, but stopped going with her some time ago.

As to how the murder plot developed, police were uncommunicative. But sources said word of Miss Massey's alleged intentions reached a police informant early last week.

Then into the case stepped City Detective Richard S. Ruth. He and a fellow officer, Lt. A. J. Gilliland, were reported to have contacted the young woman to "discuss the plans."

A meeting was arranged and Ruth appeared disguised as a tough hoodlum, carrying a concealed recorder. Police said that Miss Massey gave Ruth $500 while the recorder took down their conversation.

Warner Jr., Clifton M. Miller, Charles A. Mason, Mrs. F. N. Iglehart, John W. Steffey, Herbert L.Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Janney Jr., Richard L. Devereux, who gave up his Second District Congressional seat to make the race, lost to Democrat J. Millard Tawes.

Enough Nuclear Bombs Stockpiled To Destroy Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are now enough nuclear bombs stockpiled to destroy the entire human race, the Council of the Federation of American Scientists reported Monday.

It added that there is not, and probably never will be, any defense against massive atomic attack.

Therefore the council urged the United States to agree to a permanent cessation of atomic weapons testing in the current negotiations with Russia at Geneva.

The agreement, the scientific group said in a statement, should be subject only to the condition that a test detection system be put into operation within an agreed period.

The Federation of American Scientists describes itself as a nationwide organization concerned with the interrelation of science and world affairs.

'Parkyakarkus' Collapses, Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — "Parkyakarkus," whose Greek dialect made him one of radio's great comedians in the 1930s, collapsed and died of a heart attack early Monday at a star-studded Friars Club dinner honoring Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

More than 1,200 show business celebrities watched in horrified silence as "Parky," whose real name was Harry Einstein, slumped in his seat and fell sideways into the arms of Milton Berle at the speaker's table.

Only seconds before, Einstein, 54, a permanent feature on the old Eddie Cantor radio show, had delivered what witnesses described as one of the funniest monologues of his career.

The echoes of laughter were still reverberating through the Grand Ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel as he walked back to his chair and touched toastmaster Art Linkletter.

Then he fell forward and grabbed the back of his chair. laughter stopped suddenly, and there was chilled silence as he collapsed into Berle's arms.

Five heart specialists in the audience rushed to Einstein's aid.

The comedian was carried by Berle, George Burns and actor John Bromfield to a small corridor behind the dias. There, on the floor, the doctors tried for nearly two hours to save his life.

Wife Can't Testify Against Husband

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Monday that a wife, even though she is willing, may not testify against her husband in a criminal case in federal court.

Justice Black, noting that the court in 1933 wiped out the rule forbidding testimony of one spouse in behalf of the other, commented:

"We are not prepared to say the same about the rule barring testimony of one spouse against the other.

"The basic reason the law has refused to pit wife against husband or husband against wife . . . was a belief that such a policy is necessary to foster family peace, not only for the benefit of husband, wife and children, but for the benefit of the public as well."

The court's eight other justices voted with Black in striking down the white slavery (Mann Act) conviction of James Clifton Hawkins, a dance hall operator of Dogpatch, Okla.

Pretty Social Worker, 22, Faces Murder Plot Trial

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—A tape recorder carried by a fake killer-for-hire, actually a detective, will support charges that a pretty social worker plotted the death of the wife of the state trooper she loved, authorities indicated Monday.

Blonde Barbara Ann Massey, 22-year-old college graduate, will go on trial in Mecklenburg County Recorder's Court Friday. She is charged with paying $500 to arrange to have a "fatal accident" befall her rival.

The daughter of a policeman, Miss Massey was alleged to have been enamored of another and to have been trapped by a third when she embarked on a fantastic murder scheme.

The case had its origin in a courtroom two years ago when Miss Massey, as a student at Wake Forest, attended Guilford County Superior Court sessions to improve her knowledge of law. There she encountered Highway Patrolman Ransome Smith, handsome, married and the father of two, who appeared as a witness.

Smith, who police said had no knowledge of the alleged plot, admitted he had seen Miss Massey, but stopped going with her some time ago.

As to how the murder plot developed, police were uncommunicative. But sources said word of Miss Massey's alleged intentions reached a police informant early last week.

Then into the case stepped City Detective Richard S. Ruth. He and a fellow officer, Lt. A. J. Gilliland, were reported to have contacted the young woman to "discuss the plans."

A meeting was arranged and Ruth appeared disguised as a tough hoodlum, carrying a concealed recorder. Police said that Miss Massey gave Ruth $500 while the recorder took down their conversation.

The truck driver, identified as Maurice J. Parker Jr. of Glen Burnie, suffered a leg injury and was charged with reckless driving.

Both of the other injured were bus passengers. They were identified as Mrs. Laurea Ferrana, 43, who was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital with possible back injuries, and Mrs. Doris Thompson, 44, who was taken to the hospital with possible elbow and pelvic injuries.

10 Who Fled Reformatory Get 8 Months Extra Time

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Inmates of the State Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown may think twice before escaping from the medium security prison.

Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin Monday sentenced 10 prisoners to eight months additional time for escape.

He told them to "go back and spread the word" that the penalty for walking away from the institution has been increased to eight months instead of the usual four.

The judge also said unless there is a lessening in the number who leave the reformatory he will consider raising the penalty to one year additional time.

The 10 men sentenced today had walked away from the Breathedsville institution at various times during the summer. Prisoners at the reformatory are not under constant guard since it is a medium security institution. Many of the inmates are youths who get homesick, walk off and visit their families for a few days, then return and give themselves up to a guard.

Dozens have escaped in the past 10 years but Superintendent Clement Ferling said no more than two or three have eluded recapture.

Sentence Upheld

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — A court of appeals Monday upheld a 6-month and 20-day prison sentence for Necati Akgun, a newspaper publisher accused of printing an insulting open letter to a government official. Akgun publishes the Daily Pazaryeri in Bilecik Province of Western Anatolia.

Navy To Write Off SeaMaster Jet Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy Monday scuttled its once-heralded plan to launch a new era in air warfare with the sleek SeaMaster jet seaplane. It has sunk more than 200 million dollars into the project.

The service said it had ordered the Martin Co. of Baltimore to end production after it completes 14 of the 600 - mile an hour planes. It had ordered 24 of the big planes and more presumably would have followed under normal procedures.

Two of the jets have crashed in test flights, carrying four flyers to their deaths.

The Navy did not say if it was writing off the SeaMaster because of troubles with the four - engine plane or because of a shortage of money.

The Navy once hailed the SeaMaster as a partial replacement for the aircraft carrier.

It envisioned the planes taking off from alongside tender ships, ranging as far as 2,000 miles to drop nuclear bombs or mines on mines on an enemy target, then returning and landing on the water.

The Navy also believed the SeaMaster would be valuable to attack enemy submarines in their home bases and for high - speed photo reconnaissance and mine laying missions.

Even in cancelling its plans, the Navy described the SeaMaster's high speed and long range as a "new concept in naval aviation."

The service said it would fit out one squadron of SeaMasters to "explore the potential capability" of such planes for bombing sea and land targets, in-flight refueling, mine laying and reconnaissance.

Car Strikes Man Leaving Hospital

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 34-year-old man who walked out of City Hospitals Monday after treatment for an eye injury was struck by a car and had to be carried back in serious condition.

The accident happened just two blocks from the entrance to the hospital accident room.

The victim, Eugene M. Ragsdale, suffered multiple fractures.

The driver of the car, Camilo V. DeSantis, 21, was charged with reckless driving, having inadequate brakes and operating his car at a speed greater than reasonable and proper.

Ragsdale had been taken to the hospital in a police car for treatment of cuts around his left eye suffered in a fight. After treatment, hospital attendants called Baltimore County Police and asked that a squad car be sent to take him home.

Ragsdale struck out on his own before a car arrived. He was struck at an intersection two blocks away.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

Gun Wound Fatal To Barton Woman

Mrs. Helen Irene Ahern, 38, Barton, died yesterday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, of a gunshot wound she sustained last Thursday.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Ahern died at 7:30 a. m. She had been admitted to the hospital last Thursday after suffering a gunshot wound in her stomach.

Maryland State Police, who investigated, said the shot came from a .22 calibre rifle and was self-inflicted.

Mrs. Ahern reportedly shot herself in the downstairs section of her home in Barton. The young woman was found by her husband, William Ahern Jr., lying on the floor of a downstairs room.

Mr. Ahern had neighbors telephone for a doctor and she was taken to the hospital by Boal's Funeral Home ambulance. She was in "critical" condition when admitted and underwent surgery.

A native of Piedmont, W. Va., she was a daughter of the late Earl and Goldie (Wilt) Umstot and had resided in Barton three years.

She was a member of the Barton Chapter of the Daughters of America, Auxiliary of the Barton American Legion, the Auxiliary of the Barton Hose Company and the Barton Presbyterian Church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Neal O'Leary, Dayton, Ohio, and a brother, Earl Umstot, also of Dayton.

The body will be at the Boal Funeral Home after 3 p. m. today. Members of the Daughters of America and Legion Auxiliary will conduct services at the funeral home this evening.

'Diversity In Unity' Is Keynote Of U.S. 'Community' Churches

An increasing number of churches in America today have no denominational ties — a fact which both pleases and sometimes perturbs them.

Most of them are called "community" churches.

They're independent congregations, neighborhood mixtures, often amalgams of one-time Methodists, Lutherans, Presbyterians, Baptists and others, all worshipping under one roof, though individual concepts differ.

"Diversity in unity" is their keynote. To them, the church on the corner should include everyone rather than fencing Christians off into separate cliques.

They believe Christians ought to "serve the Lord together despite differences of theological opinion and Biblical interpretation," says the Rev. Thorpe Bauer, of Union Memorial church, Glenbrook, Conn.

This approach, its leaders say, has opened rich, new possibilities in the nation's melting-pot culture, but also has raised some troubling questions.

Nowadays, most cities have one or more of these non-denominational churches, and they're sprouting rapidly in newly settled surburban areas, where residents of varied religious persuasion unite to forge a church for all.

The movement has experienced "extraordinary growth" in recent years of shifting population, says the Rev. Richard I. Porter, of Columbus, Ohio, minister-at-large of the Council of Community Churches, an association formed in 1950.

An estimated 2,000 such congregations now dot the country's religious landscape.

But while they're multiplied in numbers, they're also been hard put to find their place in the religious scheme of things.

"All in all, our denominational brethren have a hard time fitting us in anywhere," says the Rev. Dr. Willis E. Elliott, of Morton, Ill., chairman of the community council's study commission.

(Only 15 community churches made up the council at its founding eight years ago. It now includes 421 congregations as members or affiliates.)

Their problem is that since, as a group, they hold to no uniform creed or practice, they're hard to classify. While they cherish their acceptance of many views, they have difficulty specifying any view.

In a church embracing different elements, says the Rev. E. Weldon Keckley, of First Community church, Joplin, Mo., "an individual speaks only for himself." Thus he can hold to his beliefs, and also share church fellowship.

But this leeway in the interest of community, the Rev. Mr. Keckley added, must never become "incidental to faith." He said "freedom to think" can become freedom to think nothing, and tolerance of many views can become indifference.

Community churches need to define their stand more clearly, he said.

Said Dr. Elliott: "We represent a stubborn reality standing over against the institutional patterns of Christianity, though bearing an ambiguous witness as to who we are and what we intend."

Moon Rocket Guidance System Lacks Accuracy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Wernher von Braun, the nation's top missile expert, said Sunday the next shot at the moon will have small chance of success because the Army lacks an accurate enough rocket guidance system.

"We just don't have a guidance system that is light enough and yet accurate enough to hit the moon," he said. "For that reason we are shooting at the moon with what you might call inadequate means."

Von Braun, Army missile chief, said he and his staff would be happy if their missile gets anywhere near the moon, however, because that would give them most of the information they are seeking anyway.

Gore's A-Test Curb Plan Gets GOP Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Republican member of the joint Congressional Atomic Committee urged the administration Sunday to give careful consideration to a Democratic senator's plan for halting all nuclear tests that spread radioactive fallout.

Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) said the plan offered by Sen. Albert Gore (D - Tenn.) would put Soviet sincerity to a public test and might help break the East-West deadlock at Geneva over a plan to end all atomic testing.

Gore, also a member of the joint committee, outlined his proposal in a meeting with President Eisenhower last week after returning from Geneva. He later submitted a detailed memorandum at the President's request.

He urged that the United States limit nuclear tests to underground and outer space, which would eliminate the fallout danger, for three years with a promise to make the program permanent if Russia agrees to accept the same restraints.

He said such a move would seize the propaganda initiative from Russia.

At the Geneva talks, Russia has flatly refused to agree in advance to the detailed inspection machinery demanded by the United States and Britain to insure against any cheating in a nuclear test ban.

Meanwhile, there was a growing belief among some congressional atomic experts that it might be unwise for this country to agree to a complete halt in testing. Some key lawmakers feared this would expose the West to greater danger of Soviet aggression.

At the same time, these lawmakers pointed out that Russia was making world - wide propaganda gains by exaggerating the danger of radioactive fallout and blaming the United States for refusing to halt tests.

Gore's plan could resolve this dilemma by eliminating fallout while still permitting a continuation of weapons tests.

Air Force May Launch "Spy" Satellite Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force will attempt to fire into orbit a big "spy-in-the-sky" reconnaissance satellite equipped with a telescopic camera on Dec. 15, Aviation Week magazine said Sunday.

The magazine also said the Russians "already may have put a reconnaissance satellite into high orbit" to spy on vast areas of the world.

The publication, which has proved reliable in past forecasts, said the attempt to launch the first U.S. "sentry" satellite would take place at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Under the present schedule, it said, "a follow - up sentry shot may be tried about two weeks later."

The first sentry shot, Aviation Week said, will carry a 400-to-450 - pound payload including a telescopic camera which can be ejected "and associated telemetry equipment."

There will be "provision for orienting the satellite so that it can constantly view the earth," the magazine said.

"While this initial sentry firing will be the first U.S. attempt to scan the globe with a camera eye, the Russians already may have put a reconnaissance satellite into high orbit," Aviation Week said.

The magazine said that last Sept. 24 the Air Force Missile Test Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., picked up a 40.0007 - megacycle signal, one of two frequencies used by the Soviets. The signal continued for three hours.

Jet Plane Takeoff Monitor Developed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Danbury, Conn., firm announced Sunday the development of instruments to monitor a jet plane's takeoff run. It will blow the whistle on the pilot if takeoff indications are unsatisfactory.

Glidden S. Doman, president, said the system not only will improve takeoff safety but will eliminate the abuse of brakes and tires that occurs at the last point of refusal—the point at which a pilot may still "abort" or abandon a takeoff.

The device is called DARTO—Doman Acceleration Rate Takeoff run safety instrument system.

The company, Doman Helicopters, has produced a working model of the device, and Doman has been conferring with the Defense Department officials and other potential customers.

Need Cited For Engineer At Sewage Plant

Street Commissioner John J. Long yesterday aired a number of problems facing his department in a statement before the Mayor and Council including his belief that there is a need for "engineering direction" concerning the operation and personnel needed to run the city's sewage treatment plant.

Long said he had been advised by the plant superintendent, Thomas S. Post, that the South Street sewer line is not going through the treatment facility with the result that a half million gallons of untreated material is emptying into the Potomac River.

He said there are things which require attention at the plant including "knocks in valves" in the machinery. This emphasizes, he added, the need of engineering direction for the sewage plant. Then he recalled that only last week he had recommended the viewpoint of an engineer on personnel needed to operate the plant.

(Council had under consideration a plan to reorganize the operational force of the plant which would have reduced the force from 14 to eight. However, it has been reported that this plan as originally presented has been held up or possibly dropped.)

Long said sewer problems should be corrected and it had been thought in the Street Department's four-year plan that all had been taken care of. However, it had recently come to the department's attention that a $3,000 sewer job is necessary on Ascension Street and this will be added to the long-range program. Long said many people and areas have problems and will continue to have them until the department knows what it can do concerning the four-year plan.

As for the engineering problem, Long said he knows council is trying to do something. In the meantime, he said he wanted the people to know some of the department"s problems, too. Situations in Mapleside, Hilltop Drive and the Montgomery Avenue sections were mentioned in passing by the commissioner who added they would be taken care of as soon as possible.

Long also suggested that thought be given to putting some of the city's unpaved streets on a more permanent surface basis.

He took the opportunity, while oil company representatives were in the council in connection with gasoline and lubricant bids, to express the belief that oiling of the city streets each year is a waste of money. He said the city spends from $10,000 to $15,000 oiling its streets and the oil is washed off after a few heavy rains.

Long also announced the city is going ahead with its Christmas lighting program despite a money problem. In addition to the city display on the grounds of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, trees are also planned for South End and North End as has been the case in previous years.

Last year, the displays cost approximately $1,100, an amount which is not available this year. Long asserted. The Mayor and Council, he said, has recommended funds come from the parks budget which was reduced from $8,000 to $5,000 this fiscal year. Of that, $2,500 remains and most of it will be needed next spring. In view of that, Long said he would like to find the Christmas lighting money elsewhere.

Long added Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, parks supervisor, and Andrew H. Heller, street superintendent, are working on the lighting program and three trees have been donated. Work will probably start after the first of the month, he said, adding the bulk of the cost will be for electricians.

Long said he planned to call around to get the best possible price for the electrical work, then added "We won't turn down donations, labor or anything else."

In conclusion, Long suggested the city follow up on its action denying a permit for a used car lot at the corner of Edgevale Avenue and Oldtown Road. He said the lot is still being used and he has received a number of complaints.

Boy Scout Camp Lodge Gets New Floor Covering

New vinyl asbestos flooring has been placed in the dining hall and kitchen of Camp Potomac the reservation of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, near Oldtown.

The work was sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Club through its boys and girls work committee with Rev. Archie C. Prevatte as chairman.

The flooring covers 2,200 square feet and cost a total of $787. Funds for this and similar community welfare projects supported by the local Lions Club comes from proceeds of their money raising activities such as the National Sports Car Races.

Approximately 1,000 boys and several hundred adults use the facilities of Camp Potomac during a 12-month period, according to Willis V. Smith, council executive.

Cresaptown Council Elects New Officers

Mrs. Helen Loewendick has been named chairman of the Cresaptown Community Council. Other officers named in a nominating committee report by John Yoder, include William Anderson, vice chairman; Mrs. Edgar Hounshell, secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Lee, assistant secretary, and Dirk Vandenberg, treasurer.

New officers will be installed January 23 at a meeting at Cresaptown Methodist Church. Refreshments will be served by women members of the council.

At a recent meeting, Mrs. Lester McGill, outgoing chairman, presided. Charles Wendt, chairman of the Teenage Advisory Council, reported his group had met jointly with the Cresap Teen Club and future activities were discussed.

Miss Myra Nefflen, principal of Cresaptown School, said the recently-installed fence across the front of the junior high playground had added greatly to safety of students.

The council voted approval of the Community TV Association in its efforts to obtain UHF-TV for the area.

A donation of $25 was voted to the American Legion Auxiliary toward erection of a Cresaptown Memorial Honor Roll.

Committee reports were heard from Vandenberg and Mrs. Arlie Borror.

Lester Sherman and Wendt were appointed to audit the Teen Club and council treasurer's books respectively.

SEN. RALPH J. BEAN

Bean To Seek Fourth Term As Senate Head

State Sen. Ralph J. Bean of of Moorefield is a candidate for an unprecedented fourth term as president of the West Virginia Senate.

The Hardy County Democrat is serving his third two-year term as Senate president and has no known opposition for his re-election to a fourth term.

The senators and delegates of the West Virginia Legislature will caucus separately in Charleston next Monday to select the president of the Senate and speaker of the House of Delegates.

The formalities of elections to those two posts will follow on the opening day of the legislature, Wednesday, January 14.

Sen. Bean appears to be a cinch for re-election.

He said yesterday that "I feel I have 19 votes pledged to me." Twelve votes is all that is needed for victory.

There are 23 Democrats in the W. Va. Senate and nine Republicans. The GOP candidate for senate president, if he loses, will be Senate minority leader.

That appears to be Sen. John Carrigan (R) of Moundsville.

Only one other senator has served three two-year terms as president of the Senate, and that was in the early days of the Mountain State's history.

Eight is a magic number as Bean started his political career as prosecuting attorney. He began an eight-year term in 1937.

In 1944 he was elected to the Senate from the 16th W. Va. District which is comprised of Hardy, Berkeley, Hampshire, Jefferson, Mineral and Morgan counties.

He was chairman of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary and majority leader in the 1949 and 1951 sessions.

Sen. Bean was chosen president of the Senate at the 1953, 1955 and 1957 regular sessions.

Emmanuel Methodist Has 50th Anniversary In City

The congregation of Emmanuel Methodist Church was called upon Sunday to regard the future challenge during the observance of the church's 50th anniversary.

Dr. Paul F. Warner, Hagerstown, superintendent of the Hagerstown District of the Methodist Church, stressed the thought that while looking over the half-century of trials and accomplishments, the congregation should at the same time look to the future for conquering new challenges.

Dr. Warner spoke at the afternoon service. At that time a number of members of the church were honored.

Awards went to the oldest member, Mrs. Nettie Gerard, and the youngest, three-month-old Richard Allen Saville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Furman Saville Jr.

The other oldest members to be recognized were Mrs. M. A. Malone, Mrs. Adam Frost, Mrs. Alice Trout and Mrs. Susan Pryor.

Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor of First Methodist Church, and Mrs. Culp presented musical selections and led congregational singing.

At the morning service, Rev. Dr. Earl N. Bergerstock of York, Pa., used as his sermon topic, "Where Are You Going?"

Fifty years ago the church had its beginning with the small Augur Chapel in the Humbird Street section.

In August 1910, according to Rev. Harold R. Maclay Sr., pastor, a cyclone demolished the little building.

2 cups pitted, chopped, plumped prunes
1 4-oz. can pimiento, diced

Buy Variety Today

Thirty years ago, the groceries available in retail stores were limited in variety and governed largely by seasons. Today the variety of products and meats available to the consumer has greatly increased. In fact, did you know that there are enough different meat cuts available to provide a new meat dish every day for an entire year!

A Meal With Spanish Flair

New and even better tasting than it looks is the "Bacon Spanish Rice." Made with packaged pre-cooked rice means it's easy and quick to fix, too. The rice is blended with a tomato sauce, green peppers, onion and spices and then sprinkled with crumbled bacon. You'll want to serve this Spanish-type dish often . . . but especially on busy days.

Spanish Rice Pronto

¼ cup bacon drippings or butter
1 medium onion, thinly sliced (about ½ cup)
½ medium green pepper, diced (about ⅓ cup)
1⅓ cups (4⅝-ounce box) packaged pre-cooked rice
1½ cups hot water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
½ teaspoon prepared mustard (optional)
8 strips bacon, crisply fried and crumbled

Melt fat in saucepan or skillet. Add onion, green pepper, and rice. Cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients except bacon. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil, reduce heat, and simmer, uncovered, for 5 minutes. Sprinkle with bacon before serving. Makes 4 servings.

Prune Pinwheel Meat Loaf

1 egg
1½ pounds ground beef
2 cups soft bread crumbs
Pinch marjoram
Salt
Pepper
½ cup ketchup
1 cup sliced onion
¼ cup shortening
1 cup chopped pitted prunes
Pinch oregano

Beat egg; add meat, 1 cup bread crumbs, marjoram, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper and ketchup. Saute onion in shortening; add prunes, oregano and remaining 1 cup bread crumbs. Place meat mixture between pieces of waxed paper. Roll in oblong ¼-inch thick. Remove top paper. Spread with prune filling; roll jelly-roll fashion. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 1 hour. Makes 6-8 servings.

Secrets Of Charm

Lip Tricks For You

The modern woman must have a natural looking mouth. Anything so artificial as the cupid's bow of the twenties or the gross bee sting of the forties is so outmoded in style that it will make you look old in appearance.

If you have been clinging to either, sit down in front of your mirror tonight. Remove all traces of your lipstick and then start getting acquainted with the natural shape of your mouth. It's high time that you give it the individual style that it merits.

There are only two exceptions to this rule: the woman whose lips are seriously faulty in shape or whose mouth is completely out of proportion to the rest of her face.

To have a beautiful, attractive mouth, all any woman needs is a lipstick brush, a steady hand, patience and the following guidance.

Apply your lipstick along your natural lip lines, unless:

Exception, No. 1; Those with a crooked upper lip (one side higher than the other.) Correction; With your brush, draw a line above the margin of the low side to correspond exactly with the higher side.

Exception, No. 2; Those with a pointed bow. Correction; Fill in the deep curve between the bows with a flat, horizontal stroke of your brush. With the brush tip, round off the points of the bow. Then, come down each side in a gentle, outward curve until you are past the half-way mark, where you must taper off quickly to the corners.

Exception, No. 3; The full lower lip. Correction; Apply your color just inside the lower lip and widen the upper to balance.

Exception, No. 4; Full upper lip. Correction; Reverse the above.

Exception, No. 5; Thin or straight lips. Correction; Increase the fullness and curve of both lips.

Now, for relation of your mouth to the size of your face: Generally, it should extend in length from a line just under the pupils of your eyes. If it falls short, with only the slightest encouragement, your brush will stretch it a quarter inch or so. The same instrument will also shorten it to a point about a quarter inch inside the corners. All you need do is teach it how — and a woman's mouth is so important to her beauty that there should not be a moment's delay!

TOMORROW: Keep In Line.

YOUR COLOR TYPE. Here's your personal colorscope, scientifically designed to determine just which colors keep you looking complexion-perfect and charming of dress. A copy of "Your Color Type," is on its way to you for 25c and a stamped, return envelope sent to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this paper.

Leftovers Artful Display

During the winter months when roasts are an integral part of your menu plans, keep this suggestion handy to incorporate leftover meats into second-day dishes. Add one cup chopped or ground leftover beef to a scalloped corn mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes.

1 No. 2 can waterpack sour red cherries
2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
4 large onions, thinly sliced
2 cups dark brown sugar
1 cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons mustard seed
2 cups pitted, chopped, plumped prunes
1 4-oz. can pimiento, diced

Buy Variety Today

Thirty years ago, the groceries available in retail stores were limited in variety and governed largely by seasons. Today the variety of products and meats available to the consumer has greatly increased. In fact, did you know that there are enough different meat cuts available to provide a new meat dish every day for an entire year!

A Meal With Spanish Flair

New and even better tasting than it looks is the "Bacon Spanish Rice." Made with packaged pre-cooked rice means it's easy and quick to fix, too. The rice is blended with a tomato sauce, green peppers, onion and spices and then sprinkled with crumbled bacon. You'll want to serve this Spanish-type dish often . . . but especially on busy days.

Spanish Rice Pronto

¼ cup bacon drippings or butter
1 medium onion, thinly sliced (about ½ cup)
½ medium green pepper, diced (about ⅓ cup)
1⅓ cups (4⅝-ounce box) packaged pre-cooked rice
1½ cups hot water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
½ teaspoon prepared mustard (optional)
8 strips bacon, crisply fried and crumbled

Melt fat in saucepan or skillet. Add onion, green pepper, and rice. Cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients except bacon. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil, reduce heat, and simmer, uncovered, for 5 minutes. Sprinkle with bacon before serving. Makes 4 servings.

Prune Pinwheel Meat Loaf

1 egg
1½ pounds ground beef
2 cups soft bread crumbs
Pinch marjoram
Salt
Pepper
½ cup ketchup
1 cup sliced onion
¼ cup shortening
1 cup chopped pitted prunes
Pinch oregano

Beat egg; add meat, 1 cup bread crumbs, marjoram, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper and ketchup. Saute onion in shortening; add prunes, oregano and remaining 1 cup bread crumbs. Place meat mixture between pieces of waxed paper. Roll in oblong ¼-inch thick. Remove top paper. Spread with prune filling; roll jelly-roll fashion. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 1 hour. Makes 6-8 servings.

Secrets Of Charm

Lip Tricks For You

The modern woman must have a natural looking mouth. Anything so artificial as the cupid's bow of the twenties or the gross bee sting of the forties is so outmoded in style that it will make you look old in appearance.

If you have been clinging to either, sit down in front of your mirror tonight. Remove all traces of your lipstick and then start getting acquainted with the natural shape of your mouth. It's high time that you give it the individual style that it merits.

There are only two exceptions to this rule: the woman whose lips are seriously faulty in shape or whose mouth is completely out of proportion to the rest of her face.

To have a beautiful, attractive mouth, all any woman needs is a lipstick brush, a steady hand, patience and the following guidance.

Apply your lipstick along your natural lip lines, unless:

Exception, No. 1: Those with a crooked upper lip (one side higher than the other.) Correction: With your brush, draw a line above the margin of the low side to correspond exactly with the higher side.

Exception, No. 2: Those with a pointed bow. Correction: Fill in the deep curve between the bows with a flat, horizontal stroke of your brush. With the brush tip, round off the points of the bow. Then, come down each side in a gentle, outward curve until you are past the half-way mark, where you must taper off quickly to the corners.

Exception, No. 3: The full lower lip. Correction: Apply your color just inside the lower lip and widen the upper to balance.

Exception, No. 4: Full upper lip. Correction: Reverse the above.

Exception, No. 5: Thin or straight lips. Correction: Increase the fullness and curve of both lips.

Now, for relation of your mouth to the size of your face: Generally, it should extend in length from a line just under the pupils of your eyes. If it falls short, with only the slightest encouragement, your brush will stretch it a quarter inch or so. The same instrument will also shorten it to a point about a quarter inch inside the corners. All you need do is teach it how — and a woman's mouth is so important to her beauty that there should not be a moment's delay!

TOMORROW: Keep In Line.

YOUR COLOR TYPE. Here's your personal colorscope, scientifically designed to determine just which colors keep you looking complexion-perfect and charming of dress. A copy of "Your Color Type," is on its way to you for 25c and a stamped, return envelope sent to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this paper.

Leftovers Artful Display

During the winter months when roasts are an integral part of your menu plans, keep this suggestion handy to incorporate leftover meats into second-day dishes. Add one cup chopped or ground leftover beef to a scalloped corn mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes.

Schooltime Breakfast

Bologna And Potatoes

Sometime during the winter months, you might prepare a handsome bowl of your favorite potato salad. It may be for a Saturday night snack or a Sunday evening supper. For an added change, dice some bologna and mix it into the salad. It's colorful as well as tasty.

Have Exotic Holiday Dinner

Prepare two small or medium-size turkeys to feed that Holiday-gay crowd if you want to cut down on cooking time. A brace of birds can be cooked side by side in the oven, if you want them stuffed, or on the rotisserie, and be ready to serve in about half the time required to cook a really large bird. This year's feast is given an exotic touch when one of the accompanying dishes is glazed yams and pineapple cubes served on or with toasted coconut.

Holiday hospitality is most enjoyable when the cook is organized and can spend time with her guests. You can prepare really festive food for a sizeable crowd with very little more trouble than a well-prepared family meal requires if you do some advance programming of your menu and your time.

Turkey is such an easy meat to prepare. You can poy the stuffed birds into a 325 degree oven, uncovered, and forget them until about ⅔ of the roasting time has elapsed. Then cut the trussing or the skin that holds the drumsticks down, close oven door and forget them again until they're ready to be tested for doneness. This is done by moving the drumstick up and down. If it moves readily or twists out of joint, the turkey is done. Remove it to a warm platter, and keep it hot. It should stand about 20 to 30 minutes before going to the table. This gives the meat a chance to absorb the juices, and improves its condition for carving. And do, please, provide the host with a very sharp carving knife. Anything less than a keen blade is a real frustration to him.

We are blessed with an abundance of turkeys this year. Determine the size you need (figure 1½ pounds per person for generous first meal and leftovers), and get your order in early at the market.

Chopped Lamb Patties

1¼ pounds ground lamb
2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup minced parsley
½ cup ketchup
¾ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1 teaspoon curry powder
⅔ cup chopped pitted prunes
1 cup soft bread crumbs
8 bacon strips
Cooked cauliflower and Whole, plumped prunes for garnish

Combine lamb, onion, parsley, ketchup, salt, pepper, curry powder, prunes and bread crumbs. Mix well. Form into 8 patties; fasten strip of bacon around each patty. Broil 5-6 minutes on each side being careful not to over-brown them. Makes 8.

The youthful "cowboy" or "ranchman" in your family will be eager to get up when he can be sure of having a pancake breakfast with al lthe trimmings! See that he has a bottle of maple-blended syrup handy—he'll love serving himself. Occasionally, for the sake of change, mix syrup with fruit juice, with diced fresh or canned fruits, or with canned apple sauce. And try heating the syrup with a bit of butter for another tempting treat . . . the whole family will join in your "ranchman's" enthusiasm for the first meal of the day.

Pancakes

2 cups prepared pancake and waffle mix
1¾ cups milk
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons cooking oil, melted butter or other shortening

Combine all ingredients. Mix with spoon or egg beater just until smooth. Bake on hot griddle or in lightly greased skillet, turning once. Do not stir batter between bakings. Serve with butter and warm syrup. Makes about 20 four-inch pancakes.

Bologna And Potatoes

Sometime during the winter months, you might prepare a handsome bowl of your favorite potato salad. It may be for a Saturday night snack or a Sunday evening supper. For an added change, dice some bologna and mix it into the salad. It's colorful as well as tasty.

Have Exotic Holiday Dinner

Prepare two small or medium-size turkeys to feed that Holiday-gay crowd if you want to cut down on cooking time. A brace of birds can be cooked side by side in the oven, if you want them stuffed, or on the rotisserie, and be ready to serve in about half the time required to cook a really large bird. This year's feast is given an exotic touch when one of the accompanying dishes is glazed yams and pineapple cubes served on or with toasted coconut.

Holiday hospitality is most enjoyable when the cook is organized and can spend time with her guests. You can prepare really festive food for a sizeable crowd with very little more trouble than a well-prepared family meal requires if you do some advance programming of your menu and your time.

Turkey is such an easy meat to prepare. You can poy the stuffed birds into a 325 degree oven, uncovered, and forget them until about ⅔ of the roasting time has elapsed. Then cut the trussing or the skin that holds the drumsticks down, close oven door and forget them again until they're ready to be tested for doneness. This is done by moving the drumstick up and down. If it moves readily or twists out of joint, the turkey is done. Remove it to a warm platter, and keep it hot. It should stand about 20 to 30 minutes before going to the table. This gives the meat a chance to absorb the juices, and improves its condition for carving. And do, please, provide the host with a very sharp carving knife. Anything less than a keen blade is a real frustration to him.

We are blessed with an abundance of turkeys this year. Determine the size you need (figure 1½ pounds per person for generous first meal and leftovers), and get your order in early at the market.

Chopped Lamb Patties

1¼ pounds ground lamb
2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup minced parsley
½ cup ketchup
¾ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1 teaspoon curry powder
⅔ cup chopped pitted prunes
1 cup soft bread crumbs
8 bacon strips
Cooked cauliflower and Whole, plumped prunes for garnish

Combine lamb, onion, parsley, ketchup, salt, pepper, curry powder, prunes and bread crumbs. Mix well. Form into 8 patties; fasten strip of bacon around each patty. Broil 5-6 minutes on each side being careful not to over-brown them. Makes 8.

The youthful "cowboy" or "ranchman" in your family will be eager to get up when he can be sure of having a pancake breakfast with al lthe trimmings! See that he has a bottle of maple-blended syrup handy—he'll love serving himself. Occasionally, for the sake of change, mix syrup with fruit juice, with diced fresh or canned fruits, or with canned apple sauce. And try heating the syrup with a bit of butter for another tempting treat . . . the whole family will join in your "ranchman's" enthusiasm for the first meal of the day.

Pancakes

2 cups prepared pancake and waffle mix
1¾ cups milk
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons cooking oil, melted butter or other shortening

Combine all ingredients. Mix with spoon or egg beater just until smooth. Bake on hot griddle or in lightly greased skillet, turning once. Do not stir batter between bakings. Serve with butter and warm syrup. Makes about 20 four-inch pancakes.

mell's statement indicated Keyser had been trying to outrace another car approaching from the rear.

Keyser denied he was driving. He and the driver of the other car - Dewey Napier, 22, of Elvaton — also denied they were racing.

The crash occurred on Earleigh Heights Road about a mile from the Benfield Road in Severna Park. Police said the car failed to make a turn, hit a mailbox, went off the left side of the road, crashed into the woods, snapped off one tree six inches thick and came to rest against another.

Charges placed against Keyser, in addition to the manslaughter count, were reckless driving, drunken driving, speeding, driving without a license, failure to aid an injured person and failure to reduce speed at a curve.

The car was described as a total loss.

Hummell told police he and Keyser were picked up by Napier after the accident, leaving Wenrich at the scene. He said he called a friend from a Ritchie Highway telephone booth, and they went to tell Wenrich's father of the accident. Then they returned to the wrecked car and summoned help at 12:14 a.m.

Hummell said he and Wenrich had been to a roller skating rink earlier in the evening and met Keyser at a drive-in restaurant.

He said they left the drive-in about 11:10 p.m.

'59 MERCURY SHOWS YOU WHAT NEW REALLY MEANS:

MERCURY ANNOUNCES THE COUNTRY CRUISERS

Newest ideas in Cargo and Comfort Cars

M

Wonderfully new—from dramatic hardtop styling to convenient Fold-Away 3rd seat

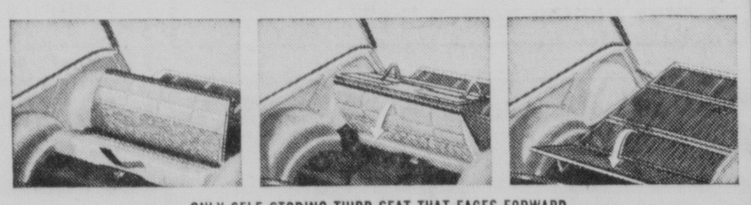
They are called Country Cruisers because they go far beyond the scope of ordinary station wagons.

To bring you the finest quality touches and workmanship, these Country Cruisers are built in a special plant, devoted exclusively to Mercury station wagons. It is the only one of its kind in the industry.

To make them the most beautiful and useful station wagons, they are built with the thoughtfulness and care of custom-built cars.

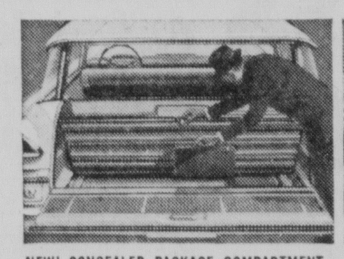
In addition to the new ideas shown at the right, Mercury offers you the most usable cargo space in any station wagon. More comfort, too. More space between seats—9 inches more leg room up front, 6 inches more entrance room, too.

The new Marauder V-8 engines are as economical as they are brilliant. The quiet smoothness of the ride is matched only by the costliest passenger cars. And there is so much more. See these luxurious Country Cruisers in person at our showroom.



ONLY SELF-STORING THIRD SEAT THAT FACES FORWARD

Passenger space becomes cargo space in seconds in the Country Cruisers. Now the 3rd seat, as well as the 2nd seat, is self-storing. No need to remove seat cushions and haul to garage; the 3rd seat folds down, slides away into a recess in the floor.



NEW! CONCEALED PACKAGE COMPARTMENT

Now . . . for your valuables, a secret storage space with lid and lock. Conveniently located just in front of the tailgate—a hidden floor "safe."

UNIQUE HARDTOP STYLING—RETRACTABLE REAR WINDOW

No view-blocking pillars with Mercury's hardtop styling. One pillar replaces three found in most wagons. The rear window slides down into tailgate. This eliminates the need for the heavy liftgate.

mell's statement indicated Keyser had been trying to outrace another car approaching from the rear.

Keyser denied he was driving. He and the driver of the other car - Dewey Napier, 22, of Elvaton — also denied they were racing.

The crash occurred on Earleigh Heights Road about a mile from the Benfield Road in Severna Park. Police said the car failed to make a turn, hit a mailbox, went off the left side of the road, crashed into the woods, snapped off one tree six inches thick and came to rest against another.

Charges placed against Keyser, in addition to the manslaughter count, were reckless driving, drunken driving, speeding, driving without a license, failure to aid an injured person and failure to reduce speed at a curve.

The car was described as a total loss.

Hummell told police he and Keyser were picked up by Napier after the accident, leaving Wenrich at the scene. He said he called a friend from a Ritchie Highway telephone booth, and they went to tell Wenrich's father of the accident. Then they returned to the wrecked car and summoned help at 12:14 a.m.

Hummell said he and Wenrich had been to a roller skating rink earlier in the evening and met Keyser at a drive-in restaurant.

He said they left the drive-in about 11:10 p.m.

'Well – What D'Ya Want?'

• Russia Probes For Sign Of Weakness

It is a favorite Soviet tactic to test the West's firmness and determination by probing sensitive areas to see how much it will let them get away with. This is what the Russians are doing in Berlin and, if history offers a reliable guide, they will not push their probing to the point where it results in full-scale war.

But there is no doubt at all that Moscow is prepared to test Western resolution and patience to the limit. There is, moreover, always the chance that a miscalculation on one side or the other will lead to actual conflict.

The campaign as it is now shaping up calls for gradually stepping up the pressure on the Western Allies to get out of Berlin leading up to the point where control of all of West's supply lines to the German metropolis, by air, rail, and highway, are in the hands of Communist East Germany.

When this happens the West will be in a most uncomfortable spot, as the Kremlin is well aware, since it does not recognize the East German government and has refused to deal with it. In a roughly similar situation three years ago the West bypassed the dilemma by claiming that the East Germans were acting as Soviet agents and dealing with them on that basis.

But the most important step Washington and the other Western capitals can take is to make it plain, from the start, that they will not be pushed around, and that the free world will fight rather than surrender its right to maintain its position in Berlin.

It is a dangerous game the Kremlin is playing in Berlin, but the West has nothing to gain by weakness and vacillation.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Coddling Our Enemies

The first task of a nation is self-defense. If a nation is unable to defend itself by arms or by diplomacy or by some other means, it is likely to be absorbed by powerful neighbors and its people will lose their independence.

The United States, as a government, knows administratively that its objective enemy, Soviet Russia, through the Communist Party, engages in efforts to overthrow the American way of life by numerous direct and devious means. The United States, juridically, declines to take cognizance of such facts.

The difference of view arises out of certain constitutional provisions which have at different times been interpreted differently. The right to travel appears nowhere in the Constitution. There is no provision which gives a citizen the right to move about at all. On the other hand, some claim that the right to travel arises out of the "pursuit of happiness" in the Declaration of Independence or the "general welfare" phrase in the Preamble to the Constitution.

Up to the most recent decisions of the Supreme Court, the granting of a passport was the function of the State Department, although early in our history there were other provisions. The passport has been variously interpreted but it has come to mean, throughout the world, a statement from one government to another, that the person holding such a document is in good standing in his own country and that he is likely to be satisfactory in another. At any rate, it is a mark of identification.

The Supreme Court's decisions in passport cases have not clearly defined the passport. That, of course, is up to Congress. However, as one effect of those decisions, as Roderic L. O'Connor of the State Department pointed out in an address, recently 596 "applications (were received) for passports from persons who have records of activity in support of the international Communist movement. Before the Supreme Court's decision many of those persons had been refused passports or had abandoned their applications when asked to identify themselves as Communists. Since the decision, these persons have moved promptly to take advantage of the breach in our defenses. They are getting their passports while the getting is good."

O'Connor does not go further than to say that this is a dangerous situation. What he means by that is spelled out by examples rather than by an assertion of a principle. But when the examples are added up, it is quite possible to say that American passports are being given to persons who are by conviction or by profession engaged in doing damage to the United States.

The State Department cannot help itself in view of the decisions of the Supreme Court. For instance, Roderic O'Connor reports:

"We have had to give passports to such ardent Communist supporters as Hugh Hardymen and Anita and Henry Willcox, all of whom attended a Commie 'Peace Conference' in 1952 at Peking, in Red China, in evasion of passport restrictions. All of them made statements accusing the United States of using germ warfare in the Korean conflict."

Congress needs to act early with regard to the passport situation. Congress needs to pass a law clearly defining a passport, clearly defining who is entitled to a passport and who is not so entitled, and what are the limitations of the State Department in the issuance of such passports. Granted that the courts have opened the doors as wide as they can ever be, it is up to Congress to pass a constitutional law so that a passport is not just a piece of paper.

As long as Congress fails to pass such a law, the Supreme Court decisions stand and the passport remains merely a card of identification and not an accurate one at that. It might just as well be issued for alien spies, murderers, thieves, heroin pushers and anybody else. It simply means that a guy enjoys freedom to travel—it means that and nothing more and no notice is served on a foreign country to the effect that if you do not beware the fellow will steal the family silver. As it stands, it is, indeed, a very crude concept of a passport. On the other hand should one of these subversives get into trouble anywhere, the likelihood is that his family will demand that the Marines be sent to rescue him.

American Power During Berlin Blockade Was Greater Than Now

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If the United States is forced to re-establish the Berlin airlift to carry essential military supplies to beleaguered Berlin, conditions will be entirely different from those in 1948. Then we had such superior atomic power we could risk war. Today it's different. Here are the uncomfortable but irrefutable facts:

USSR STRENGTH IN 1948 — Total air fleet, 20,000 planes. Practically no jet bombers capable of hitting the United States. Plenty of MIG fighters, but these are purely defensive. Very primitive atomic bombs and few of them.

USA STRENGTH IN 1948 — Total air fleet, 21,000 planes, but with much greater combat capability because of American big bombers. The American strategic air command, armed with atomic bombs, could have retaliated with 100 times the destruction of Russian planes in case war broke as a result of Berlin blockade.

USSR STRENGTH IN 1958 — Total air strength, 28,000 planes, of which more than 18,000 are considered combat types. The big Soviet increase has been in bombers. The Red air force now has enough bombers to match ours with actually more long-range jet bombers than the USA. Russia's atomic stockpile is now estimated at about equal to ours. In fact, Russia is believed ahead of us on some types of hydrogen bombs.

USA STRENGTH IN 1958 — Our air power has dropped to 20,000 planes, of which only 13,000 are combat. Both countries have cut down on planes in order to concentrate on missiles, but U.S. intelligence frankly admits that Russia is far ahead of us on missiles.

Note — President Eisenhower is still cutting the military budget. Latest cut was 70,000 in manpower. Earlier he had cut Polaris-missiled atomic submarines, also had cut down on intermediate-range missiles.

Ike's Peeve At Truman

Dwight D. Eisenhower's personal boycott of Harry S. Truman is well known to the American public. The fact Mr. Truman has never been invited to the White House, though he immediately invited ex-President Herbert Hoover to consider the White House his second home, is well known. But the origin of Ike's bitterness is now known.

Ike warmed up a bit during the election campaign when Truman criticized his fellow Democrats for criticizing Eisenhower's foreign policy. After that, for the first time in the memory of the press corps, Ike mentioned Truman by name. But he has not yet invited Harry to the White House.

The origin of his bitterness, which few people outside the White House know, actually began on October 4, 1952, over the question which is worrying Europe and Eisenhower right now — Berlin.

Mr. Truman made a speech in Oakland, Calif., reviewing the facts regarding the Berlin blockade. General Eisenhower, then campaigning for President, read the speech and hit the ceiling. In view of the present crisis over Berlin and the feud which has become the most famous in America, it might be interesting to see exactly what Truman said.

He began by chiding Ike for injecting foreign policy into a political campaign, the same stand Truman took last month when he sided with Eisenhower against his critical fellow Democrats.

"The Republican candidate," said Truman, "up to recently has not been an irresponsible outsider in foreign policy. He has had the trust and confidence of the people in foreign policy matters. Now he is abusing that trust. He is spreading the false version of history . . ."

"Ike Trusted Russia"—H.S.T.

"In the period after the end of World War II, there were different opinions about what the Russians would do. Some men like Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman warned us to be on our guard. Others, like General Eisenhower, said we had nothing to fear."

Truman then told how when Ike was Chief of Staff in 1947 he had joined in the military recommendation that American troops be reduced in Korea, that there was no danger from Russia. Yet, said Truman, candidate Eisenhower was now critical of the government regarding Korea.

"There is no short cut to peace," Truman continued. "There is no superman who can solve our difficulties for us. It is very dangerous to lead people to think there is some magical way out of the present struggle. It is an injury to our national security to tear down the confidence of people. But that is what the Republican candidate is doing."

"He and other Republican campaigners are now saying that the Berlin blockade of 1948 was the fault of this government because we did not have a firm arrangement guaranteeing our right of access by land to Berlin.

"Why did we not have a clear right of way to Berlin that the Russians could not violate? We should have had it. In 1945 I proposed to Stalin that we obtain free access to Berlin simultaneously with the withdrawal of our troops from the Soviet zone of Germany. The arrangements were to be worked out by the military leaders in the field.

"Our commanding general in Europe, who is now the Republican candidate, was informed of his responsibility to work them out. He had instructions that unrestricted access to Berlin was to be a condition of the withdrawal of our troops. He delegated this job of negotiation to General Clay, and left Europe. General Clay met with the Russian military leaders, and got only an oral assurance from them, instead of a precise agreement in writing. Our troops were withdrawn, our bargaining position was lost and our right of access was never firmly established.

"General Clay, in his book, admits that this was a mistake," said Truman. "He is honest about it. He doesn't blame the civilian side of the government — which had nothing to do with it. He doesn't even blame his commanding officer.

"But his commanding officer," concluded Truman, "should step up and share some of the blame. The responsibility to arrange free access to Berlin lay squarely on that commanding officer."

That, according to Ike's close friends, was why he got mad and stayed mad with Harry Truman.

The Cabinet's Secret Debate Over The Budget

While Joseph Alsop reports from the Middle East, Rowland Evans Jr. covers the home base.

By Rowland Evans Jr.

WASHINGTON

There are significant signs that President Eisenhower is setting out on his last two years in office in a way that might almost seem calculated to install the Democrats in the White House in 1960.

The President, of course, would scarcely agree with that assessment. But his gnawing preoccupation with cutting federal spending; his virtual orders to the Departments that there shall be no new federal programs of any kind, other than programs to kill existing programs; his resolve to go ahead with a manpower reduction and other muscle-trimming in the armed forces — these and other signs of retrenchment are dramatic testimony that the message of the 1958 election may somehow have failed to penetrate the White House.

The fiscal policy of reduce, pare and cutback may be the easiest solution to the terribly complex question of deficit spending and record national debts. But in the view of an important minority of top Presidential advisors, it is very bad politics just at the time the Republicans seem most in need of a new image to put before the country. It is stirring up some sharp discord on the Eisenhower team. One Cabinet member has boldly told the White House that fiscal retrenchment will have drastic political repercussions in 1960.

In fact, this official has said that if the Democrats could plant their most cunning saboteur in a high policy-making job in the White House, he could do no more to help the Democrats than a budget policy that ignores the dynamic problems of a new era.

The agencies to get hurt first and most by a federal economy wave are, after Defense, Dr. Arthur Flemming's Health, Education and Welfare Department and James P. Mitchell's Labor Department. These two members of the team, together with Interior's Fred Seaton, are putting up the strongest case against the policy of retrenchment by the Budget Bureau that the Cabinet conservatives, strongly supported thus far by the President, are insisting upon.

The President's target, of course, is to move as close to a balanced budget as possible. The deficit for this year will be around $12,000,000,000. Perhaps half of this can be wiped out by higher tax revenues in the next fiscal year, leaving some $6,000,000,000 as the target for reduced spending.

Those in the Cabinet who are now struggling against the Budget Bureau are telling the President that his new budget will set the tone and pace of his final two years in office. At a recent Cabinet meeting, according to qualified informants, Dr. Flemming said his Department could not accept the Budget Bureau's edict against any and all new welfare programs. He was quickly supported by several other Cabinet members. Even Secretary of State Dulles is concerned. He knows that a budget that skimps on everything but foreign aid is an engraved invitation to Congress to cut the heart out of foreign aid.

Where does Vice President Nixon stand? He stands in an ironic position. By nature, politically and intellectually Nixon is a man of action, a bold planner, the precise opposite of a stand-patter. And yet the whole tone of the recent Republican campaign, which he helped to set, is almost driving the Administration into fiscal retrenchment now. The paradox is that the results of the election seem to argue even more powerfully the other way.

Quietly, privately, it can be assumed that the Vice President is using all his persuasion against a budget that will give the Democrats in Congress all the initiative on slum clearance, school construction, atomic power, aid for depressed areas and a host of other measures that the strongest Democratic Congress in twenty-two years is already gleefully contemplating. Mr. Nixon has not forgotten Mr. Truman's sensational 1948 campaign against a "do-nothing" Republican Congress. He could well be weighing what might happen if the Democrats campaigned in 1960 against a do-nothing Republican Executive.

The secret debate in the Cabinet is far from over. It may, in fact, spill out into the open in an embarrassing way before it ends.

The Steel Merger

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — The lower court ruling against the proposed Bethlehem Steel-Youngstown Sheet & Tube merger is one judge's opinion. It could be upset by either or both of the higher courts — the Circuit Court of Appeals and/or the Supreme Court. That would take another two or three years.

The heads of the two companies, along with their lawyers, will have to consider whether the merger, to be truly effective and economically sound, can wait that long.

The merger has been hanging fire more than four years, with two of those years spent in the court.

U.S. District Judge Edward Weinfeld bought the Anti-Trust Division's lawyers' case.

Judge Weinfeld found a "reasonable probability that the merger . . . would substantially lessen competition and tend to create a monopoly in the iron and steel industry" and in 11 specific products.

"The merger," he also found, "offers an incipient threat of setting into motion a chain reaction of further mergers by other, but less powerful, companies in the steel industry."

Note his use of the words a "reasonable probability" and "an incipient threat."

That is like saying the driver of any motor car presents a "reasonable probability" of, or is an "incipient threat" for a highway fatality.

Judge Weinfeld also said Congress, in drawing up the anti-trust laws, "made no distinction between good mergers and bad mergers."

This merger was first proposed in July of 1954 — more than four years ago. While the question was up in the air as to what the Justice Department's attitude would be, the then Attorney General — Herbert Brownell — picked an unusual way to disclose the Anti-Trust Division's opposition. This was in a speech before the New York Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America.

A year later, Brownell in another speech — this time in Philadelphia — reiterated the department's opposition, but promised a speedy court determination.

The two companies did not get around to signing a formal merger agreement until Dec. 11, 1956, and the Anti-Trust Division went into court the next day to block it. The final arguments were heard just a year ago.

The judge handed down his decision Nov. 20, but he had arrived at it some time ago, for he presented his opinion in two thick, printed bound volumes.

The general thesis of the Anti-Trust lawyers is that bigness in business is a crime. Particularly so if the big business is successful. Judge Weinfeld goes along with this.

His decision should come as no great surprise. Before going on the bench, for which he was endorsed by the Bar Association of the City of New York, he was long active in public housing. He was a former N.Y. State Housing Commissioner and counsel to one time Gov. Herbert Lehman. He is a lifelong Democrat and was for 20 years a Tammany election district captain.

Two months ago he attacked judges of high courts who have "joined the pack" in attacking recent Supreme Court decisions. He called "shocking" the 36 to eight vote of the conference of chief justices of state courts on a resolution highly critical of the Supreme Court.

Baby Should Get Used To Sleeping On Tummy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The newborn baby has many adjustments to make. He has been curled up in the uterus for months and is likely to resist efforts to alter this position. When placed in the crib, many promptly reassume the uterine position of comfort.

The full term, healthy infant can lift and turn his head while lying prone. Suffocation need not be feared in this position, provided a pillow is not used. Should vomiting occur, the material cannot get into the windpipe and cause pneumonia, as may happen when the tot is lying on his back. For this reason, pediatricians advise parents to accustom the infant to the prone position. Within a week or two, many are unable to sleep unless placed on the abdomen.

But any posture that is adhered to has its good and bad points. Since the infant spends most of his time in bed, he should be turned periodically. The following is suggested:

Let him lie on his back during part of the day and then prop him on one side or the other during the remainder of the day. Put him on his tummy at night. This plan helps to avoid a misshapen head. When the infant lies continuously on his back, the skull tends to flatten out, and an analogous situation occurs when the infant spends most of his time on one side.

The chief objection to lying on the tummy in a froglike position centers about the hips. The legs are rotated outwardly and pressure is exerted on the hip joints as well as the inner aspects of the knees and ankles.

But this is a minor point because rotation of the hips is corrected quickly as soon as the child learns to walk. Furthermore, if the parents follow the rule of changing position from time to time, hips and head will benefit.

FEVER IN ILLNESS

L. R. writes: Does fever serve a useful purpose in illness?

REPLY

Older physicians theorized that a rise in temperature represented an attempt by the body to kill bacteria but fever never goes this high. We know now that the system combats infection in more efficient ways. The objection to fever is that it saps the strength, adds to discomfort, and prolongs convalescence. Aspirin lowers an elevated temperature but does not cure infection. We now have the wonder drugs to do both.

TRAINING A CHILD

Mrs. J. writes: In toilet training, should a tot be left on the chair until he is successful?

REPLY

Yes, but take him off the chair if enough time has elapsed and he becomes fidgety. Our leaflet on bowel and bladder training may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

LIVER ENLARGEMENT

G. B. writes: Is surgery done for an enlarged liver.

REPLY

Not for the common kinds of liver enlargement. Surgery is indicated occasionally for removal of a tumor, to drain an abscess, or in treating complications that occur as a result of cirrhosis.

THE DISEASE IS THERE

J. W. writes: What is latent syphilis?

REPLY

This stage of the disease occurs several weeks to months after it is acquired. All of the original lesions have healed and the only sign of the disease is a positive blood test.

CAFFEINE AT 10 MONTHS

Mrs. G. writes: My 10 month old baby likes crackers soaked in coffee or tea. Will this harm her in any way?

REPLY

This baby is too young for caffeine. Dunk the crackers in milk.

HAMMER TOE CORRECTION

C. V. writes: The doctor tells me I should have my hammer toe corrected. Is operation the only thing that can be done for this condition?

REPLY

Yes, because the joint is dislocated and thickened to such an extent that it cannot be straightened without removing part of it.

ENLARGED TONGUE

Mrs. W. writes: Can anything be done for an infant who was born with a tongue too big for his mouth.

REPLY

Macroglossia is mose likely to develop in stocky infants. The tongue grows more rapidly than the other oral structures and is proportionately larger but in time they catch up with the tongue. If not, surgery may be needed. Other conditions associated with enlarged tongue are cretinism and mongolism.

TOMORROW: Complications of neglected ulcer.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The cruiser's captain suspected a sound dressing down in the offing, but the message from the Admiral was reassuring. It consisted of just one word: "Good."

A few minutes later, however, he received this supplement: "To the previous message please add the word 'God'."

Somerset Maugham, author of "Of Human Bondage," and now at an age (84) where he no longer cares whose toes he steps upon, observed recently: "The four greatest novelists the world has ever known—Balzac, Dickens, Tolstoy, and Dostovevsky—wrote their respective languages very differently. It proves that if you can tell stories, create character, devise incidents, and if you have sincerity and passion, it doesn't matter a damn how you write."

• Russia Probes For Sign Of Weakness

It is a favorite Soviet tactic to test the West's firmness and determination by probing sensitive areas to see how much it will let them get away with. This is what the Russians are doing in Berlin and, if history offers a reliable guide, they will not push their probing to the point where it results in full-scale war.

But there is no doubt at all that Moscow is prepared to test Western resolution and patience to the limit. There is, moreover, always the chance that a miscalculation on one side or the other will lead to actual conflict.

The campaign as it is now shaping up calls for gradually stepping up the pressure on the Western Allies to get out of Berlin leading up to the point where control of all of West's supply lines to the German metropolis, by air, rail, and highway, are in the hands of Communist East Germany.

When this happens the West will be in a most uncomfortable spot, as the Kremlin is well aware, since it does not recognize the East German government and has refused to deal with it. In a roughly similar situation three years ago the West bypassed the dilemma by claiming that the East Germans were acting as Soviet agents and dealing with them on that basis.

But the most important step Washington and the other Western capitals can take is to make it plain, from the start, that they will not be pushed around, and that the free world will fight rather than surrender its right to maintain its position in Berlin.

It is a dangerous game the Kremlin is playing in Berlin, but the West has nothing to gain by weakness and vacillation.

These Days

Coddling Our Enemies

The first task of a nation is self-defense. If a nation is unable to defend itself by arms or by diplomacy or by some other means, it is likely to be absorbed by powerful neighbors and its people will lose their independence.

The United States, as a government, knows administratively that its objective enemy, Soviet Russia, through the Communist Party, engages in efforts to overthrow the American way of life by numerous direct and devious means. The United States, juridically, declines to take cognizance of such facts.

The difference of view arises out of certain constitutional provisions which have at different times been interpreted differently. The right to travel appears nowhere in the Constitution. There is no provision which gives a citizen the right to move about at all. On the other hand, some claim that the right to travel arises out of the "pursuit of happiness" in the Declaration of Independence or the "general welfare" phrase in the Preamble to the Constitution.

Up to the most recent decisions of the Supreme Court, the granting of a passport was the function of the State Department, although early in our history there were other provisions. The passport has been variously interpreted but it has come to mean, throughout the world, a statement from one government to another, that the person holding such a document is in good standing in his own country and that he is likely to be satisfactory in another. At any rate, it is a mark of identification.

The Supreme Court's decisions in passport cases have not clearly defined the passport. That, of course, is up to Congress. However, as one effect of those decisions, as Roderic L. O'Connor of the State Department pointed out in an address, recently 596 "applications (were received) for passports from persons who have records of activity in support of the international Communist movement. Before the Supreme Court's decision many of those persons had been refused passports or had abandoned their applications when asked to identify themselves as Communists. Since the decision, these persons have moved promptly to take advantage of the breach in our defenses. They are getting their passports while the getting is good."

O'Connor does not go further than to say that this is a dangerous situation. What he means by that is spelled out by examples rather than by an assertion of a principle. But when the examples are added up, it is quite possible to say that American passports are being given to persons who are by conviction or by profession engaged in doing damage to the United States.

The State Department cannot help itself in view of the decisions of the Supreme Court. For instance, Roderic O'Connor reports:

"We have had to give passports to such ardent Communist supporters as Hugh Hardymen and Anita and Henry Willcox, all of whom attended a Commie 'Peace Conference' in 1952 at Peking, in Red China, in evasion of passport restrictions. All of them made statements accusing the United States of using germ warfare in the Korean conflict."

Congress needs to act early with regard to the passport situation. Congress needs to pass a law clearly defining a passport, clearly defining who is entitled to a passport and who is not so entitled, and what are the limitations of the State Department in the issuance of such passports. Granted that the courts have opened the doors as wide as they can ever be, it is up to Congress to pass a constitutional law so that a passport is not just a piece of paper.

As long as Congress fails to pass such a law, the Supreme Court decisions stand and the passport remains merely a card of identification and not an accurate one at that. It might just as well be issued for alien spies, murderers, thieves, heroin pushers and anybody else. It simply means that a guy enjoys freedom to travel—it means that and nothing more and no notice is served on a foreign country to the effect that if you do not beware the fellow will steal the family silver. As it stands, it is, indeed, a very crude concept of a passport. On the other hand should one of these subversives get into trouble anywhere, the likelihood is that his family will demand that the Marines be sent to rescue him.

The Cabinet's Secret Debate Over The Budget

By Rowland Evans Jr.

While Joseph Alsop reports from the Middle East, Rowland Evans Jr. covers the home base.

WASHINGTON

There are significant signs that President Eisenhower is setting out on his last two years in office in a way that might almost seem calculated to install the Democrats in the White House in 1960.

The President, of course, would scarcely agree with that assessment. But his gnawing preoccupation with cutting federal spending; his virtual orders to the Departments that there shall be no new federal programs of any kind, other than programs to kill existing programs; his resolve to go ahead with a manpower reduction and other muscle-trimming in the armed forces — these and other signs of retrenchment are dramatic testimony that the message of the 1958 election may somehow have failed to penetrate the White House.

The fiscal policy of reduce, pare and cutback may be the easiest solution to the terribly complex question of deficit spending and record national debts. But in the view of an important minority of top Presidential advisors, it is very bad politics just at the time the Republicans seem most in need of a new image to put before the country. It is stirring up some sharp discord on the Eisenhower team. One Cabinet member has boldly told the White House that fiscal retrenchment will have drastic political repercussions in 1960.

In fact, this official has said that if the Democrats could plant their most cunning saboteur in a high policy-making job in the White House, he could do no more to help the Democrats than a budget policy that ignores the dynamic problems of a new era.

The agencies to get hurt first and most by a federal economy wave are, after Defense, Dr. Arthur Flemming's Health, Education and Welfare Department and James P. Mitchell's Labor Department. These two members of the team, together with Interior's Fred Seaton, are putting up the strongest case against the policy of retrenchment by the Budget Bureau that the Cabinet conservatives, strongly supported thus far by the President, are insisting upon.

The President's target, of course, is to move as close to a balanced budget as possible. The deficit for this year will be around $12,000,000,000. Perhaps half of this can be wiped out by higher tax revenues in the next fiscal year, leaving some $6,000,000,000 as the target for reduced spending.

Those in the Cabinet who are now struggling against the Budget Bureau are telling the President that his new budget will set the tone and pace of his final two years in office. At a recent Cabinet meeting, according to qualified informants, Dr. Flemming said his Department could not accept the Budget Bureau's edict against any and all new welfare programs. He was quickly supported by several other Cabinet members. Even Secretary of State Dulles is concerned. He knows that a budget that skimps on everything but foreign aid is an engraved invitation to Congress to cut the heart out of foreign aid.

Where does Vice President Nixon stand? He stands in an ironic position. By nature, politically and intellectually Nixon is a man of action, a bold planner, the precise opposite of a stand-patter. And yet the whole tone of the recent Republican campaign, which he helped to set, is almost driving the Administration into fiscal retrenchment now. The paradox is that the results of the election seem to argue even more powerfully the other way.

Quietly, privately, it can be assumed that the Vice President is using all his persuasion against a budget that will give the Democrats in Congress all the initiative on slum clearance, school construction, atomic power, aid for depressed areas and a host of other measures that the strongest Democratic Congress in twenty-two years is already gleefully contemplating. Mr. Nixon has not forgotten Mr. Truman's sensational 1948 campaign against a "do-nothing" Republican Congress. He could well be weighing what might happen if the Democrats campaigned in 1960 against a do-nothing Republican Executive.

The secret debate in the Cabinet is far from over. It may, in fact, spill out into the open in an embarrassing way before it ends.

American Power During Berlin Blockade Was Greater Than Now

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If the United States is forced to re-establish the Berlin airlift to carry essential military supplies to beleaguered Berlin, conditions will be entirely different from those in 1948. Then we had such superior atomic power we could risk war. Today it's different. Here are the uncomfortable but irrefutable facts:

USSR STRENGTH IN 1948 — Total air fleet, 20,000 planes. Practically no jet bombers capable of hitting the United States. Plenty of MIG fighters, but these are purely defensive. Very primitive atomic bombs and few of them.

USA STRENGTH IN 1948 — Total air fleet, 21,000 planes, but with much greater combat capability because of American big bombers. The American strategic air command, armed with atomic bombs, could have retaliated with 100 times the destruction of Russian planes in case war broke as a result of Berlin blockade.

USSR STRENGTH IN 1958 — Total air strength, 28,000 planes, of which more than 18,000 are considered combat types. The big Soviet increase has been in bombers. The Red air force now has enough bombers to match ours with actually more long-range jet bombers than the USA. Russia's atomic stockpile is now estimated at about equal to ours. In fact, Russia is believed ahead of us on some types of hydrogen bombs.

USA STRENGTH IN 1958 — Our air power has dropped to 20,000 planes, of which only 13,000 are combat. Both countries have cut down on planes in order to concentrate on missiles, but U.S. intelligence frankly admits that Russia is far ahead of us on missiles.

Note — President Eisenhower is still cutting the military budget. Latest cut was 70,000 in manpower. Earlier he had cut Polaris-missiled atomic submarines, also had cut down on intermediate-range missiles.

Ike's Peeve At Truman

Dwight D. Eisenhower's personal boycott of Harry S. Truman is well known to the American public. The fact Mr. Truman has never been invited to the White House, though he immediately invited ex-President Herbert Hoover to consider the White House his second home, is well known. But the origin of Ike's bitterness is now known.

Ike warmed up a bit during the election campaign when Truman criticized his fellow Democrats for criticizing Eisenhower's foreign policy. After that, for the first time in the memory of the press corps, Ike mentioned Truman by name. But he has not yet invited Harry to the White House.

The origin of his bitterness, which few people outside the White House know, actually began on October 4, 1952, over the question which is worrying Europe and Eisenhower right now — Berlin.

Mr. Truman made a speech in Oakland, Calif., reviewing the facts regarding the Berlin blockade. General Eisenhower, then campaigning for President, read the speech and hit the ceiling. In view of the present crisis over Berlin and the feud which has become the most famous in America, it might be interesting to see exactly what Truman said.

He began by chiding Ike for injecting foreign policy into a political campaign, the same stand Truman took last month when he sided with Eisenhower against his critical fellow Democrats.

"The Republican candidate," said Truman, "up to recently has not been an irresponsible outsider in foreign policy. He has had the trust and confidence of the people in foreign policy matters. Now he is abusing that trust. He is spreading the false version of history . . ."

"Ike Trusted Russia"—H.S.T.

"In the period after the end of World War II, there were different opinions about what the Russians would do. Some men like Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman warned us to be on our guard. Others, like General Eisenhower, said we had nothing to fear."

Truman then told how when Ike was Chief of Staff in 1947 he had joined in the military recommendation that American troops be reduced in Korea, that there was no danger from Russia. Yet, said Truman, candidate Eisenhower was now critical of the government regarding Korea.

"There is no short cut to peace," Truman continued. "There is no superman who can solve our difficulties for us. It is very dangerous to lead people to think there is some magical way out of the present struggle. It is an injury to our national security to tear down the confidence of people. But that is what the Republican candidate is doing."

"He and other Republican campaigners are now saying that the Berlin blockade of 1948 was the fault of this government because we did not have a firm arrangement guaranteeing our right of access by land to Berlin.

"Why did we not have a clear right of way to Berlin that the Russians could not violate? We should have had it. In 1945 I proposed to Stalin that we obtain free access to Berlin simultaneously with the withdrawal of our troops from the Soviet zone of Germany. The arrangements were to be worked out by the military leaders in the field.

"Our commanding general in Europe, who is now the Republican candidate, was informed of his responsibility to work them out. He had instructions that unrestricted access to Berlin was to be a condition of the withdrawal of our troops. He delegated this job of negotiation to General Clay, and left Europe. General Clay met with the Russian military leaders, and got only an oral assurance from them, instead of a precise agreement in writing. Our troops were withdrawn, our bargaining position was lost and our right of access was never firmly established.

"General Clay, in his book, admits that this was a mistake," said Truman. "He is honest about it. He doesn't blame the civilian side of the government — which had nothing to do with it. He doesn't even blame his commanding officer.

"But his commanding officer," concluded Truman, "should step up and share some of the blame. The responsibility to arrange free access to Berlin lay squarely on that commanding officer."

That, according to Ike's close friends, was why he got mad and stayed mad with Harry Truman.

The Steel Merger

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — The lower court ruling against the proposed Bethlehem Steel-Youngstown Sheet & Tube merger is one judge's opinion. It could be upset by either or both of the higher courts — the Circuit Court of Appeals and/or the Supreme Court. That would take another two or three years.

The heads of the two companies, along with their lawyers, will have to consider whether the merger, to be truly effective and economically sound, can wait that long.

The merger has been hanging fire more than four years, with two of those years spent in the court.

U.S. District Judge Edward Weinfeld bought the Anti-Trust Division's lawyers' case.

Judge Weinfeld found a "reasonable probability that the merger . . . would substantially lessen competition and tend to create a monopoly in the iron and steel industry" and in 11 specific products.

"The merger," he also found, "offers an incipient threat of setting into motion a chain reaction of further mergers by other, but less powerful, companies in the steel industry."

Note his use of the words a "reasonable probability" and "an incipient threat."

That is like saying the driver of any motor car presents a "reasonable probability" of, or is an "incipient threat" for a highway fatality.

Judge Weinfeld also said Congress, in drawing up the anti-trust laws, "made no distinction between good mergers and bad mergers."

This merger was first proposed in July of 1954 — more than four years ago. While the question was up in the air as to what the Justice Department's attitude would be, the then Attorney General — Herbert Brownell — picked an unusual way to disclose the Anti-Trust Division's opposition. This was in a speech before the New York Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America.

A year later, Brownell in another speech — this time in Philadelphia — reiterated the department's opposition, but promised a speedy court determination.

The two companies did not get around to signing a formal merger agreement until Dec. 11, 1956, and the Anti-Trust Division went into court the next day to block it. The final arguments were heard just a year ago.

The judge handed down his decision Nov. 20, but he had arrived at it some time ago, for he presented his opinion in two thick, printed bound volumes.

The general thesis of the Anti-Trust lawyers is that bigness in business is a crime. Particularly so if the big business is successful. Judge Weinfeld goes along with this.

His decision should come as no great surprise. Before going on the bench, for which he was endorsed by the Bar Association of the City of New York, he was long active in public housing. He was a former N.Y. State Housing Commissioner and counsel to one time Gov. Herbert Lehman. He is a lifelong Democrat and was for 20 years a Tammany election district captain.

Two months ago he attacked judges of high courts who have "joined the pack" in attacking recent Supreme Court decisions. He called "shocking" the 36 to eight vote of the conference of chief justices of state courts on a resolution highly critical of the Supreme Court.

Scouts Make UO Collection In Tri Towns

WESTERNPORT — Approximately 1,500 items of non-perishable food and 1,500 pieces of clothing were gathered by the Boy and Girl Scouts of the Tri-Towns Saturday in a house-to-house canvas.

The donations will be distributed to the needy in the Tri-Towns area by the United Organizations.

The clothing is stored on the second floor of the Union Building here and foodstuffs were placed in the store room of the Walker Building, Second Street, Piedmont. Both places are storerooms for the UO.

Fifteen units of the Boy and Girl Scouts participated, including Piedmont, Westernport, Luke, Beryl, Bloomington and Franklin and the drive was conducted in all of these places.

Eight cars and trucks were used to transport the collection. At each storeroom Girl Scouts placed the articles in their proper places under direction of three women for the United Organizations.

Oldtown Firemen Help Clear Land

OLDTOWN — The Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company has been helping area residents clear land by burning brush and weeds, it was reported by members of the company. Ten acres at Bull Ring Ranch has been cleared and three to five acres on the recently purchased VanMeter tract have been burned.

During one of these operations, a local resident called District No. 16 and reported a bad "brush fire." When District 16 volunteers arrived and realized the Oldtown volunteers had the fire under control, they returned to their home station.

Pocahontas Plan Christmas Dinner

MIDLAND — Laetta Council No. 60, Degree of Pocahontas, will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Red Men's Hall, at which time plans will be completed for a Christmas dinner to be held jointly with Tioga Tribe No. 126, Improved Order of Red Men.

The dinner is planned for December 12 at 6 p.m. in Red Men's Hall. Husbands and wives of each order will be invited. Mrs. Margaret Hendra is chairman.

Following the holiday dinner, the Degree of Pocahontas will meet and gifts will be exchanged. Each member will bring a gift costing about 59 cents.

Unusual Motor Vehicle Case Involves New Law

An unusual motor vehicle case was heard in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday concerning automobile liability insurance.

A local man had been charged with failing to notify the Department of Motor Vehicles that his automobile insurance had been suspended.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, informed Magistrate Morris Baron that the charge is covered under the new Unsatisfied Claim and Judgement Fund Law.

Mason informed the court that under the law a motorist must notify the department if his insurance runs out, or is cancelled for any reason.

Under the new law when a person applies for auto tags he must swear that he is covered by insurance and pay a $1 additional fee. If a person does not have liability insurance he must then pay an $8 charge.

In the case yesterday the local driver had insurance when he applied for his tags last May, but since then the insurance was cancelled. He failed to notify the Department of Motor Vehicles and send them the difference of $7, thus becoming guilty of violating the new law.

Magistrate Baron found the man guilty and fined him $100 and costs, but suspended the sentence when it was pointed out that most motorists are unaware of the new law.

A violation of the law carries a fine of $100 to $500 and a jail sentence of not more than 30 days.

Population experts in India expect the nation to have 450 million persons by 1970.

Charter Amendment Set On City Workers' Leaves

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized City Attorney William R. Carscaden to prepare a charter amendment and resolution setting forth vacations, sick leaves, and holidays for municipal employes.

The police and firemen will come under this order which will also contain all benefits and rights held by employes.

Carscaden said some are presently covered by ordinance and some by charter and that employes had requested all be done by resolution.

Council voted 4-1 to grant Edith E. Gellner, a school crossing guard, a leave of absence from November 18 to December 1.

Upon questioning by Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder, Commissioner Philmore Fleming said the Police Department employe had another job to look into and that she would not be replaced. He also said the guards were not getting vacations or sick leave as other employes and he felt the move in order.

The department, he added, could absorb the two-week vacancy by transferring a guard from a less hazardous crossing or by utilizing a regular member of the force.

Mrs. Roeder, however, disagreed with the reason for the leave and voted "no" on the order.

Unusual Motor Vehicle Case Involves New Law

An unusual motor vehicle case was heard in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday concerning automobile liability insurance.

A local man had been charged with failing to notify the Department of Motor Vehicles that his automobile insurance had been suspended.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, informed Magistrate Morris Baron that the charge is covered under the new Unsatisfied Claim and Judgement Fund Law.

Mason informed the court that under the law a motorist must notify the department if his insurance runs out, or is cancelled for any reason.

Under the new law when a person applies for auto tags he must swear that he is covered by insurance and pay a $1 additional fee. If a person does not have liability insurance he must then pay an $8 charge.

In the case yesterday the local driver had insurance when he applied for his tags last May, but since then the insurance was cancelled. He failed to notify the Department of Motor Vehicles and send them the difference of $7, thus becoming guilty of violating the new law.

Magistrate Baron found the man guilty and fined him $100 and costs, but suspended the sentence when it was pointed out that most motorists are unaware of the new law.

A violation of the law carries a fine of $100 to $500 and a jail sentence of not more than 30 days.

Population experts in India expect the nation to have 450 million persons by 1970.

Charter Amendment Set On City Workers' Leaves

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized City Attorney William R. Carscaden to prepare a charter amendment and resolution setting forth vacations, sick leaves, and holidays for municipal employes.

The police and firemen will come under this order which will also contain all benefits and rights held by employes.

Carscaden said some are presently covered by ordinance and some by charter and that employes had requested all be done by resolution.

Council voted 4-1 to grant Edith E. Gellner, a school crossing guard, a leave of absence from November 18 to December 1.

Upon questioning by Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder, Commissioner Philmore Fleming said the Police Department employe had another job to look into and that she would not be replaced. He also said the guards were not getting vacations or sick leave as other employes and he felt the move in order.

The department, he added, could absorb the two-week vacancy by transferring a guard from a less hazardous crossing or by utilizing a regular member of the force.

Mrs. Roeder, however, disagreed with the reason for the leave and voted "no" on the order.

Louisiana State Retains Lead In College Grid Polls

Auburn Team Is Runner-Up On AP Ballots

Oklahoma And Iowa Move To 3rd, 4th Ahead Idle Army

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Last Saturday it was Louisiana State 62, Tulane 0 on the football field; Monday it was LSU 115, Iowa 16 in the ballots. In both cases it was no contest where the Sugar Bowl bound Tigers of LSU were concerned.

The 115-16 margin measured the first place votes in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Iowa came closest in this respect but placed only fourth in the overall balloting, counted on the basis of 10 points for each first place vote, nine for second, etc. There will be one more poll next week, but it seems a formality for LSU, which has completed its regular schedule.

Jump On Bandwagon

After LSU, the only unbeaten and untied major college team in the nation, wound up its season with a reverberating triumph over its ancient rival, the experts jumped on the Tiger bandwagon. All but 41 of the first place votes cast went to LSU and most of the voters who didn't put the Tigers first gave them a vote for second.

Auburn, with only five first place votes but strong support for second, held its place behind LSU, nearly 400 points behind. The margin this week was 1,445 to 1,083. Oklahoma and Iowa, two other bowl bound teams that won impressively last Saturday, moved ahead of idle Army into third and fourth places.

FORT HILL'S DEFENDING CHAMPIONS—Fort Hill High School will be gunning for its fifth straight victory and its 11th win in 13 years over Allegany when the Sentinels battle the Campers in the city championship football game here Thanksgiving Day at 1:30 p. m. Allegany's last win was in 1945. Since that game the Sentinels have won ten and played two ties with their crosstown rivals on Turkey Day. Fort Hill has played 19 consecutive games without a setback. Since the Thanksgiving Day game of 1956 the Sentinels' record is 18 wins and one tie. The Fort Hill squad pictured above, left to right: FIRST ROW—William Koerner, Tom Davis, Charles Robinson, William D. Hahn, Fred Joyce, Walter Reed, Robert Rowley, Gary Holtzman. SECOND ROW—Bruce Smith, Donald Lewis, Laurence Cosgrove, Eugene Counihan, Jack Weltman, Leroy Henry, James Hammond, Frank Robinson, Dennis Stoops. Coaches Vote Ties Iowa And Army For 2nd

Auburn Rated 4th, Champion Will Be Named Next Week

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers, who hope to climax their best college football season in 50 years by winning the Sugar Bowl game Jan. 1, Monday topped United Press International's next-to-last weekly ratings of 1958 by a wide margin.

Louisiana State, the nation's only major undefeated-untied team, received 30 first-place votes and a total of 333 points after ending its regular season (10-0) by crushing Tulane Saturday, 62-0. While the Tigers received only 17 points less than the maximum possible total of 350, Iowa advanced from sixth to a second-place tie with Army. Each had 246 points.

Coaches Pick Teams

The 35 outstanding coaches who rate the teams for UPI will determine the national champion when they cast their final 1958 ballots next week.

Syracuse, which will play Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, was the only newcomer in the top 10 this week. The upstate New York school took over 10th place in making its first appearance of the season in the select group. Purdue dropped from seventh to 11th.

Sooners Fifth

Auburn was fourth with 223 points and Oklahoma was fifth

Allegany 30-Year Mark Thanksgiving Is 12-15-3

Fort Hill Win Would Equal Record; Allegany Hasn't Won For 12 Years

When Allegany High School's Campers face Fort Hill Sentinels in the 1958 football season wind-up and championship game on Thursday it will mark the Campobello school's 31st consecutive Thanksgiving Day game against a city opponent.

In the 30 games played since 1928, Allegany teams have finished on the short end 15 times while winning 12 and playing three tie games.

AHS Won Five In Row

The longest winning streak enjoyed by one school in the Turkey Day contests was Allegany's string of five games over Fort Hill from 1941 through 1945. Fort Hill won four in a row, 1949-1952, and has won its last four games from the Campers who have not crashed the win column since 1945 when Walter L. Bowers' Campers topped the Sentinels, 13-12.

This year's holiday contest will be the 22nd with the Sentinels holding an 11-9 edge in wins. The 1948 and 1953 games were ties. Counting three other games which the teams played during the Second World War when gasoline was rationed and there were restrictions on travel the schools have met 25 times with Fort Hill emerging the victor in 13 games to Allegany's 9 while three were even-Stephen affairs.

Hahn's Record 10-1-2

Coach William P. Hahn will be sending a Fort Hill team against Allegany for the 14th time on Turkey Day. His first time lost in 1942. Since he came out of the Navy in 1946 his teams have won 10, lost none and played two tie games.

During the three years that Mel Henry was at Fort Hill, 1943-1945, the schools met five times and Allegany won three, Fort Hill one and one contest ended in a deadlock. Hahn's 1946 team whipped Allegany twice. The overall record of Hahn's teams in games with Allegany is 11-1-2.

Ball Won 7 Out Of 8

Herman Ball's Allegany teams copped six out of seven holiday games with Fort Hill while Camper teams coached by Walter L. Bowers turned in a 5-3-1 record against LaSalle, Penn Avenue and Fort Hill. Bowers batted 1.000 against Fort Hill in Thanksgiving Day games, winning three and losing none. In two other outings against the Sentinels his teams lost one and tied one.

Iowa came closest in this respect but placed only fourth in the overall balloting, counted on the basis of 10 points for each first place vote, nine for second, etc. There will be one more poll next week, but it seems a formality for LSU, which has completed its regular schedule.

Jump On Bandwagon

After LSU, the only unbeaten and untied major college team in the nation, wound up its season with a reverberating triumph over its ancient rival, the experts jumped on the Tiger bandwagon. All but 41 of the first place votes cast went to LSU and most of the voters who didn't put the Tigers first gave them a vote for second.

Auburn, with only five first place votes but strong support for second, held its place behind LSU, nearly 400 points behind. The margin this week was 1,445 to 1,083. Oklahoma and Iowa, two other bowl bound teams that won impressively last Saturday, moved ahead of idle Army into third and fourth places.

Coaches Vote Ties Iowa And Army For 2nd

Auburn Rated 4th, Champion Will Be Named Next Week

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers, who hope to climax their best college football season in 50 years by winning the Sugar Bowl game Jan. 1, Monday topped United Press International's next-to-last weekly ratings of 1958 by a wide margin.

Louisiana State, the nation's only major undefeated-untied team, received 30 first-place votes and a total of 333 points after ending its regular season (10-0) by crushing Tulane Saturday, 62-0. While the Tigers received only 17 points less than the maximum possible total of 350, Iowa advanced from sixth to a second-place tie with Army. Each had 246 points.

Coaches Pick Teams

The 35 outstanding coaches who rate the teams for UPI will determine the national champion when they cast their final 1958 ballots next week.

Syracuse, which will play Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, was the only newcomer in the top 10 this week. The upstate New York school took over 10th place in making its first appearance of the season in the select group. Purdue dropped from seventh to 11th.

Sooners Fifth

Auburn was fourth with 223 points and Oklahoma was fifth

Fort Hill Win Would Equal Record; Allegany Hasn't Won For 12 Years

When Allegany High School's Campers face Fort Hill Sentinels in the 1958 football season wind-up and championship game on Thursday it will mark the Campobello school's 31st consecutive Thanksgiving Day game against a city opponent.

In the 30 games played since 1928, Allegany teams have finished on the short end 15 times while winning 12 and playing three tie games.

AHS Won Five In Row

The longest winning streak enjoyed by one school in the Turkey Day contests was Allegany's string of five games over Fort Hill from 1941 through 1945. Fort Hill won four in a row, 1949-1952, and has won its last four games from the Campers who have not crashed the win column since 1945 when Walter L. Bowers' Campers topped the Sentinels, 13-12.

This year's holiday contest will be the 22nd with the Sentinels holding an 11-9 edge in wins. The 1948 and 1953 games were ties. Counting three other games which the teams played during the Second World War when gasoline was rationed and there were restrictions on travel the schools have met 25 times with Fort Hill emerging the victor in 13 games to Allegany's 9 while three were even-Stephen affairs.

Hahn's Record 10-1-2

Coach William P. Hahn will be sending a Fort Hill team against Allegany for the 14th time on Turkey Day. His first time lost in 1942. Since he came out of the Navy in 1946 his teams have won 10, lost none and played two tie games.

During the three years that Mel Henry was at Fort Hill, 1943-1945, the schools met five times and Allegany won three, Fort Hill one and one contest ended in a deadlock. Hahn's 1946 team whipped Allegany twice. The overall record of Hahn's teams in games with Allegany is 11-1-2.

Ball Won 7 Out Of 8

Herman Ball's Allegany teams copped six out of seven holiday games with Fort Hill while Camper teams coached by Walter L. Bowers turned in a 5-3-1 record against LaSalle, Penn Avenue and Fort Hill. Bowers batted 1.000 against Fort Hill in Thanksgiving Day games, winning three and losing none. In two other outings against the Sentinels his teams lost one and tied one.

Folley Stops Joe Bygraves In 9th Round

Referee Halts Bout In Leicester Ring

LEICESTER, England (AP) — Zora Folley, heavyweight contender from Chandler, Ariz., Monday night stopped Joe Bygraves, former British Empire heavyweight champion, in the ninth round of a ten round bout. Folley weighed 191½ pounds, Bygraves 203¾.

The 27-year-old American, third ranked among the challengers for Floyd Patterson's crown, controlled the fight all the way.

Making up for his Oct. 14 upset in London by Britain's Henry Cooper, Folley held a 6-1-1 edge on The Associated Press scorecard through eight rounds. Bygraves won the fourth with the third even. Folley took all the rest.

Bygraves who had knocked out Cooper in the ninth round in February, 1957, was a 2 to 1 underdog.

The only knockdown of the fight was a "long count" nine in the second round, reminiscent of the famous "long count" of the Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey scrap in Chicago in 1927.

The fast-moving, fast-punching Folley sent Bygraves slumping to the canvas with a short right cross. The Jamaican, dazed and bewildered, sat on the deck as the count mounted to nine.

Then Bygraves looked toward the timekeeper, shouted "is that nine?" and stumbled to his feet.

It seemed to ringsiders the count had gone past 10 before Bygraves got up but the British Referee Frank Wilson allowed the bout to continue and Bygraves fought back.

There was only a second to go in the ninth round when Referee Wilson stopped it at 2:59 of the round to save Bygraves, 27, from further punishment.

with 210. Wisconsin was sixth with 179, Texas Christian was seventh with 159, Ohio State was eighth with 85, the Air Force Academy was ninth with 76 and Syracuse followed with 64.

Iowa's Rose Bowl-bound Hawkeyes received three first - place votes after ending their regular season Saturday with a 31-21 victory over Notre Dame. Army, idle last week end while preparing for its Saturday finale against Navy, and Ohio State divided the remaining two first-place votes.

Only 19 teams were mentioned on the ballots this week. Purdue was 11th with 62 points. Clemson, California, Notre Dame, Florida, Mississippi, Oklahoma State Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh followed in that order.

While Army tackles Navy at Philadelphia Saturday, Auburn will play Alabama, Oklahoma will meet Oklahoma State and Texas Christian will visit Southern Methodist in other traditional regular season finales. The fledgling Air Force Academy, which ranks with Louisiana State and Syracuse as the surprise teams of the 1958 campaign, ends its regular season against Colorado Saturday.

The other members of the top 10—Louisiana State, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Syracuse—have ended their regular campaigns.

stood a better chance of getting into the circuit had it agreed to compete in all sports.

The conference voted a $15 trophy for Mathias High School, baseball champions; a $10 trophy to Keyser High School, track and field champions; duplicate $20 trophies to West Virginia School for the Deaf and Keyser High School, co-champions of football, and a $10 trophy to Petersburg High, runner-up in football.

It was decided to stage the PVC junior basketball tournament at Keyser High School February 14, 21 and 24. Eleven schools, namely, Keyser, Petersburg, Capon Bridge, Elk Garden, Moorefield, Berkeley Springs, Southern, Paw Paw, Fort Ashby, Piedmont and Romney indicated they will participate and there is a possibility the West Virginia School for the Deaf also will compete.

Conference schools agreed that advance sale of tickets for football games will be conducted at visiting schools before each game and prior to each basketball and football season visiting teams will furnish home teams with player rosters and other information appropriate for game programs. Beginning next year the track and field trophy will be purchased in advance of the meet and presented to the winner after the results have been tabulated.

Introduce New Coaches

New coaches introduced at last night's meeting were: Gary Kerns, Berkeley Springs; Hoy Dove Jr., Mathias; Glenn Smith and Gerald Messenger, Paw Paw, and Edward Hartman, Romney.

It was voted to hold the spring dinner meeting in March at the Old Homestead Hotel.

Forty-six persons, including 14 principals and 31 coaches were present. Robert B. Harper, principal of Romney High School, presided. Thomas Small, Paw Paw, is vice president and James W. Goldsworthy, assistant principal at Keyser High School, is secretary.

Bears Are Voted Into Rose Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference Monday announced California has been selected to play in the Rose Bowl against Iowa of the Big Ten.

Acting Commissioner Bernard Hammerbeck, said the PCC vote in favor of the Golden Bears was unanimous.

To all intents, California won the role in whipping Stanford last Saturday, 16-15 to win the undisputed conference championship.

Coac Pete Elliott's team, after a poor start, settled down to win the title with a record of six victories to one loss, to Oregon State. It's over-all record was 7-3, with defeats to College of the Pacific, Michigan State and Oregon State.

Auburn

drubbed Notre Dame 31-21 and Oklahoma, again the Big Eight winner, belted Nebraska 40-7. Army took its usual Saturday off before the Navy game and lost some of the attention focussed on it during the rest of its unbeaten but once-tied season.

Wisconsin, down one notch from last week, Texas Christian, Air Force, Ohio State and Syracuse completed the top ten. Ohio State, a 20-14 winner over Michigan State in the Big Ten windup, moved into the select group in place of Purdue, which was tied by Indiana. The Air Force Academy, which tied Iowa and won all its other games, moved up one notch to eighth place.

Except for bowl games, five teams in the top ten have finished their season. Auburn still has to play Alabama Saturday, Oklahoma plays Oklahoma State, Army plays Navy, TCU meets Southern Methodist and Air Force plays Colorado.

The second ten: Purdue, Clemson, Mississippi, Florida, Vanderbilt, South Carolina, California, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Rutgers

Folley Stops Joe Bygraves In 9th Round

Referee Halts Bout In Leicester Ring

LEICESTER, England (AP) — Zora Folley, heavyweight contender from Chandler, Ariz., Monday night stopped Joe Bygraves, former British Empire heavyweight champion, in the ninth round of a ten round bout. Folley weighed 191½ pounds, Bygraves 203¾.

The 27-year-old American, third ranked among the challengers for Floyd Patterson's crown, controlled the fight all the way.

Making up for his Oct. 14 upset in London by Britain's Henry Cooper, Folley held a 6-1-1 edge on The Associated Press scorecard through eight rounds. Bygraves won the fourth with the third even. Folley took all the rest.

Bygraves who had knocked out Cooper in the ninth round in February, 1957, was a 2 to 1 underdog.

The only knockdown of the fight was a "long count" nine in the second round, reminiscent of the famous "long count" of the Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey scrap in Chicago in 1927.

The fast-moving, fast-punching Folley sent Bygraves slumping to the canvas with a short right cross. The Jamaican, dazed and bewildered, sat on the deck as the count mounted to nine.

Then Bygraves looked toward the timekeeper, shouted "is that nine?" and stumbled to his feet.

It seemed to ringsiders the count had gone past 10 before Bygraves got up but the British Referee Frank Wilson allowed the bout to continue and Bygraves fought back.

There was only a second to go in the ninth round when Referee Wilson stopped it at 2:59 of the round to save Bygraves, 27, from further punishment.

Coaches Vote

with 210. Wisconsin was sixth with 179. Texas Christian was seventh with 159. Ohio State was eighth with 85, the Air Force Academy was ninth with 76 and Syracuse followed with 64.

Iowa's Rose Bowl-bound Hawkeyes received three first - place votes after ending their regular season Saturday with a 31-21 victory over Notre Dame. Army, idle last week end while preparing for its Saturday finale against Navy, and Ohio State divided the remaining two first-place votes.

Only 19 teams were mentioned on the ballots this week. Purdue was 11th with 62 points. Clemson, California, Notre Dame, Florida, Mississippi, Oklahoma State Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh followed in that order.

While Army tackles Navy at Philadelphia Saturday, Auburn will play Alabama, Oklahoma will meet Oklahoma State and Texas Christian will visit Southern Methodist in other traditional regular season finales. The fledgling Air Force Academy, which ranks with Louisiana State and Syracuse as the surprise teams of the 1958 campaign, ends its regular season against Colorado Saturday.

The other members of the top 10—Louisiana State, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Syracuse—have ended their regular campaigns.

stood a better chance of getting into the circuit had it agreed to compete in all sports.

The conference voted a $15 trophy for Mathias High School, baseball champions; a $10 trophy to Keyser High School, track and field champions; duplicate $20 trophies to West Virginia School for the Deaf and Keyser High School, co-champions of football, and a $10 trophy to Petersburg High, runner-up in football.

It was decided to stage the PVC junior basketball tournament at Keyser High School February 14, 21 and 24. Eleven schools, namely, Keyser, Petersburg, Capon Bridge, Elk Garden, Moorefield, Berkeley Springs, Southern, Paw Paw, Fort Ashby, Piedmont and Romney indicated they will participate and there is a possibility the West Virginia School for the Deaf also will compete.

Conference schools agreed that advance sale of tickets for football games will be conducted at visiting schools before each game and prior to each basketball and football season visiting teams will furnish home teams with player rosters and other information appropriate for game programs. Beginning next year the track and field trophy will be purchased in advance of the meet and presented to the winner after the results have been tabulated.

Introduce New Coaches

New coaches introduced at last night's meeting were: Gary Kerns, Berkeley Springs; Hoy Dove Jr., Mathias; Glenn Smith and Gerald Messenger, Paw Paw, and Edward Hartman, Romney.

It was voted to hold the spring dinner meeting in March at the Old Homestead Hotel.

Forty-six persons, including 14 principals and 31 coaches were present. Robert B. Harper, principal of Romney High School, presided. Thomas Small, Paw Paw, is vice president and James W. Goldsworthy, assistant principal at Keyser High School, is secretary.

Bears Are Voted Into Rose Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference Monday announced California has been selected to play in the Rose Bowl against Iowa of the Big Ten.

Acting Commissioner Bernard Hammerbeck, said the PCC vote in favor of the Golden Bears was unanimous.

To all intents, California won the role in whipping Stanford last Saturday, 16-15 to win the undisputed conference championship.

Coac Pete Elliott's team, after a poor start, settled down to win the title with a record of six victories to one loss, to Oregon State. It's over-all record was 7-3, with defeats to College of the Pacific, Michigan State and Oregon State.

drubbed Notre Dame 31-21 and Oklahoma, again the Big Eight winner, belted Nebraska 40-7. Army took its usual Saturday off before the Navy game and lost some of the attention focussed on it during the rest of its unbeaten but once-tied season.

Wisconsin, down one notch from last week, Texas Christian, Air Force, Ohio State and Syracuse completed the top ten. Ohio State, a 20-14 winner over Michigan State in the Big Ten windup, moved into the select group in place of Purdue, which was tied by Indiana. The Air Force Academy, which tied Iowa and won all its other games, moved up one notch to eighth place.

Except for bowl games, five teams in the top ten have finished their season. Auburn still has to play Alabama Saturday, Oklahoma plays Oklahoma State, Army plays Navy, TCU meets Southern Methodist and Air Force plays Colorado.

The second ten: Purdue, Clemson, Mississippi, Florida, Vanderbilt, South Carolina, California, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Rutgers

Card of Thanks

WE wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved father, Harry W. Reed. We especially wish to thank those who sent cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars.
HIS SONS AND DAUGHTERS

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my Grandson, Lester Lee Green, who passed away Nov. 9, 1958.
You're not forgotten, Lester dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
I shall remember thee.
No one but God knows how much I miss you.
YOUR GRANDMA ANDREWS, MOSCOW.

Card of Thanks

WE wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved father, Harry W. Reed. We especially wish to thank those who sent cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my Grandson, Lester Lee Green, who passed away Nov. 9, 1958.
You're not forgotten, Lester dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
I shall remember thee.
No one but God knows how much I miss you.
YOUR GRANDMA ANDREWS, MOSCOW.

Wins Major Award

PARIS (UPI)—Francoise Mallet-Joris, an American - educated French housewife, won the annual "Prix Femina" literary Prize Monday, one of the major awards in the book world. An all-woman jury of nine chose her novel "L'Empire Celeste" (the heavenly Empire). The novel is the story of a tubercular piano player in a left bank Parisian bar whose secret diary eventually costs him his wife and friends. Miss Mallet-Joris, 28, is married to French painter Jacques Delfau and has three children.

Fire Kills Three

NAGOYA, Japan (UPI) — A speeding train rammed a truck loaded with highly flammable oil Monday, killing 3 persons and injuring 29 others in the collision and fire that followed. Reports from the scene at Kariya, 10 miles from Nagoya, said the electric train rammed the truck broadside at a crossing. Oil sprayed over the coaches and ignited.

AN OLD-FASHIONED THANKSGIVING—Mrs. Myrtle Ball bastes her turkey on a 150-year-old tin reflector oven in Old Sturbridge Village, Mass., as she shows how a complete Thanksgiving dinner was cooked in a fireplace. The oven was a forerunner of today's roto-broiler. The demonstration is an annual affair at the colonial village, recalling way Thanksgiving was first celebrated.

City Approves Airport Pact

The Mayor and Council yesterday empowered the Municipal Airport Commission to enter into an agreement with Allegheny Airlines extending the airport lease agreement for three years.

The lease would cover the period December 4, 1958 to December 3, 1961. The lease provides that Allegheny pay $500 a year rental for administration building facilities plus a $100 a month activity fee.

Allegheny is operating here under a temporary service certificate which expires in February. The city, Chamber of Commerce, State Aviation Commission and interested parties are in the process of filing briefs before the Civil Aeronautics Board seeking to make the service permanent. The briefs must be filed by February 3.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—If you read 'Cash McCall" a few years ago when it was a best seller, I am sure you will agree there could be no one better than James "Maverick" Garner in the role of the adventurous, exciting Cash. That's exactly what is going to happen.

Originally Bill Dozier bought the Cameron Hawley book for RKO, to star Alan Ladd. Then the studio closed and "Cash" gathered dust until Warner Bros. bought it two weeks ago for $200,000. It will be made into a million-dollar production for the handsome Jim.

"Maverick" continues to give Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen red-hot competition on Sunday night, and Garner is one of the most popular actors of the day. He was given the lead in "Darby's Rangers" and he's starring in "Up Periscope", yet to be released by Warner Bros.

I was interested to hear that Allied Artists had bought Stephen Longstreet's "Man of Montmartre," based on the life of Maurice Utrillo. I met Utrillo and his wife at Rita Hayworth's wedding to Aly Khan. He gave them one of his most beautiful paintings as a wedding gift.

Utrillo's wife was with him and she was his business manager. I have always regretted that I didn't accept their invitation to visit his studio.

Tony Quinn is interested in "Man of Montmartre" which could very well be another "Moulin Rouge". Rember Tony won an Academy Award for his portrayal of Gauguin in "Lust for Life," the story of Van Gogh.

I am told that Charles Feldman paid a young fortune for "Fair Game," one of New York's last year's plays, and I happen to know that the only one he can see in the top role is William Holden.

I pinned Charlie down to ask him about Bill. He said, "I make no secret that I certainly would like to get Holden. 'Fair Game' was meant for him, but I have to wait and see what happens with the Pramount suit.

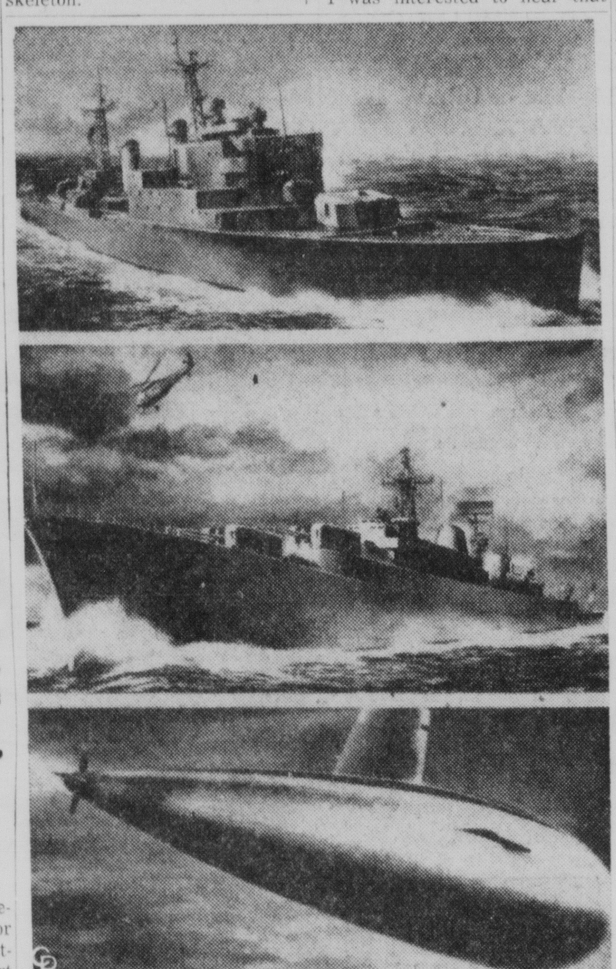
"As I understand it, Bill only promised them one picture a year and it was a non-exclusive deal, but I wouldn't like to get in the middle, much as I want Bill."

Goodness knows I'm not being facetious about Marvin Miller's ailment—but that my old friend should be taken with a complaint called osteocartilagenous loose body—is just too much! Roughly translated osteocartilagenous loose body is a condition of the knee in which little pieces of cartilage come loose and actually "float" within the joint. The pieces are the size of nickels.

Marvin and Elizabeth were packed for a trip to Honolulu, a rest from his popular "Millionaire" TV series, when his knee started paining him. Now the trip is postponed and surgery may be necessary. I hope not, but on second thought—surgery would be a pleasure if necessary to get rid of osteocartilagenous loose body!

My most expensive hat is off to Patrice Wymore, who is about to make her first picture since she married the unpredictable Errol Flynn.

Patrice will make "The Sad Horse" for 20th Century - Fox which stars David Ladd. It's a story about a boy, a horse and a dog—what more do you need? Pat will be working both day and night because the picture starts Dec. 1, and she opens at the Cocoanut Grove on Dec. 4.



BRITISH ATOMIC-AGE NAVY—A British Admiralty artist gives an official idea of what the Royal Navy will look like in the future. At top the cruiser Tiger, first of three of her class. She will have turrets and associated radar control equipment which can locate targets, be loaded, trained and fired automatically. In center is one of four guided-missile destroyers. Designed to be able to operate in Atomic "fall out" areas, they will fire the Seaslug ship-to-air guided weapons and also have powerful conventional armament. At bottom is the nuclear-powered submarine Dreadnought. Her whale-shaped hull, and fin-like conning tower are for a maximum underwater efficiency of high speed and long endurance. (Central Press)

TABLE TALK—Exchanging the latest show business gossip, Steverino the dog and Miss Pyewacket the cat pause before continuing their meal at a New York airport hotel. Television's Steverino, named an honorary cat during the recent National Cat Week, was on hand to greet Miss Pyewacket on her return to New York from Hollywood, Calif. The sleek feline appears in the forthcoming film, "Bell, Book and Candle."

Pittsburgher Contradicts Testimony

By JAMES BAAR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Pittsburgh businessman Monday flatly contradicted under oath testimony that he was the source of rumors that a former FCC chairman was offered $200,000 for his vote in the Pittsburgh Channel Four TV case.

The witness, William G. Matta, swore that he first heard the report from Earl Reed, president of Television City, Inc. — the man who had identified Matta as the man who told him about the rumors.

Matta, a heavy - shouldered, balding man, was summoned before the House Influence Investigating Subcommittee in connection with its effort to determine whether someone deliberately "manufactured" the rumors in an effort to influence award of the channel.

Testimony Given

In ordering the new hearings, subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said the group also hoped to clear up conflicting testimony and to establish whether there was a "basis for further action by the Department of Justice."

Reed had testified that Matta told him that WCAE, Inc., a Hearst Corporation also seeking Channel Four, was to pay former FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughey $200,000 for his vote. McConnaughey, now practicing law in Ohio, called it a vicious, unfounded rumor.

The subcommittee also received testimony that Reed received a $50,000 bribe solicitation in McConnaughey's behalf from a "phantom telephone caller."

Robert W. Lishman, counsel for the investigating group, read Reed's testimony identifying Matta as the source of the first bribe rumor. When Matta flatly denied being the source of the report, Lishman asked when he first heard it.

Makes First Appearance

"I heard it on the telephone from Mr. Reed. . .some time in June (1957)," Matta replied.

Matta, making his first appearance before the subcommittee, then was asked where he heard about the $50,000 bribe solicitation. Matta said he heard it from Reed's partner, Lee W. Eckels. He said he did not recall hearing the report from any other source.

Matta testified that he and Eckels were attending a party in New York City at the time.

"He didn't say from whom he heard it," the witness said.

He said he asked Eckles later what he intended to do about the matter and Eckels replied:

"'I'm going to see that the right people hear about this.'"

Reed and Eckels are scheduled to testify again on Wednesday.

Rep. Harris reopened the case after the Justice Department said a grand jury, which looked into the matter earlier, had no plans to resume its activities. A department spokesman said the subcommittee had not turned up any new evidence.

Witnesses Rule To Be Appealed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Supreme Court Monday agreed to review a Cabell County Circuit Court ruling which upheld an injunction forbidding a Huntington woman to hold meetings of the Jehovahs' Witnesses in her home.

The decision was a reversal of two earlier rulings, the high court having turned down the appeal of Mrs. J. B. Bond Jr. Oct. 6 and Nov. 10.

The injunction was issued as a result of a divorce action between the Bonds in the Cabell County Domestic Relations Court. The man claimed the meetings in the couple's home would be detrimental to the three Bond children.

The woman was awarded the house and custody of the children by the Domestic Relations Court.

NAGOYA, Japan (UPI) — A speeding train rammed a truck loaded with highly flammable oil Monday, killing 3 persons and injuring 29 others in the collision and fire that followed. City Approves Airport Pact

The Mayor and Council yesterday empowered the Municipal Airport Commission to enter into an agreement with Allegheny Airlines extending the airport lease agreement for three years.

The lease would cover the period December 4, 1958 to December 3, 1961. The lease provides that Allegheny pay $500 a year rental for administration building facilities plus a $100 a month activity fee.

Allegheny is operating here under a temporary service certificate which expires in February. The city, Chamber of Commerce, State Aviation Commission and interested parties are in the process of filing briefs before the Civil Aeronautics Board seeking to make the service permanent. The briefs must be filed by February 3.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—If you read 'Cash McCall" a few years ago when it was a best seller, I am sure you will agree there could be no one better than James "Maverick" Garner in the role of the adventurous, exciting Cash. That's exactly what is going to happen.

Originally Bill Dozier bought the Cameron Hawley book for RKO, to star Alan Ladd. Then the studio closed and "Cash" gathered dust until Warner Bros. bought it two weeks ago for $200,000. It will be made into a million-dollar production for the handsome Jim.

"Maverick" continues to give Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen red-hot competition on Sunday night, and Garner is one of the most popular actors of the day. He was given the lead in "Darby's Rangers" and he's starring in "Up Periscope", yet to be released by Warner Bros.

I was interested to hear that Allied Artists had bought Stephen Longstreet's "Man of Montmartre," based on the life of Maurice Utrillo. I met Utrillo and his wife at Rita Hayworth's wedding to Aly Khan. He gave them one of his most beautiful paintings as a wedding gift.

Utrillo's wife was with him and she was his business manager. I have always regretted that I didn't accept their invitation to visit his studio.

Tony Quinn is interested in "Man of Montmartre" which could very well be another "Moulin Rouge". Rember Tony won an Academy Award for his portrayal of Gauguin in "Lust for Life," the story of Van Gogh.

I am told that Charles Feldman paid a young fortune for "Fair Game," one of New York's last year's plays, and I happen to know that the only one he can see in the top role is William Holden.

I pinned Charlie down to ask him about Bill. He said, "I make no secret that I certainly would like to get Holden. 'Fair Game' was meant for him, but I have to wait and see what happens with the Pramount suit.

"As I understand it, Bill only promised them one picture a year and it was a non-exclusive deal, but I wouldn't like to get in the middle, much as I want Bill."

Goodness knows I'm not being facetious about Marvin Miller's ailment—but that my old friend should be taken with a complaint called osteocartilagenous loose body—is just too much! Roughly translated osteocartilagenous loose body is a condition of the knee in which little pieces of cartilage come loose and actually "float" within the joint. The pieces are the size of nickels.

Marvin and Elizabeth were packed for a trip to Honolulu, a rest from his popular "Millionaire" TV series, when his knee started paining him. Now the trip is postponed and surgery may be necessary. I hope not, but on second thought—surgery would be a pleasure if necessary to get rid of osteocartilagenous loose body!

My most expensive hat is off to Patrice Wymore, who is about to make her first picture since she married the unpredictable Errol Flynn.

Patrice will make "The Sad Horse" for 20th Century - Fox which stars David Ladd. It's a story about a boy, a horse and a dog—what more do you need? Pat will be working both day and night because the picture starts Dec. 1, and she opens at the Cocoanut Grove on Dec. 4.

Designed to be able to operate in Atomic "fall out" areas, they will fire the Seaslug ship-to-air guided weapons and also have powerful conventional armament. At bottom is the nuclear-powered submarine Dreadnought. Her whale-shaped hull, and fin-like conning tower are for a maximum underwater efficiency of high speed and long endurance. (Central Press)

The sleek feline appears in the forthcoming film, "Bell, Book and Candle."

Market Suffers Sharpest Loss Since Sept. 26, 1955

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock values, built up to all-time highs in recent weeks, were slashed more than six billion dollars Monday in a 4,770,000-share selling wave.

The break was the most severe for the market since Sept. 26, 1955, the first session after President Eisenhower's heart attack.

It came on volume which kept tickers running late—as much as eight minutes — through most of morning and again in the final hour of trading.

Already considered vulnerable because of the rise to new highs, the market was influenced by a number of factors, commentators said.

These included the recommendation of a leading brokerage house to cut back stock market risks; President Eisenhower's drive to keep down government costs which brought to mind the aftermath of the government cutback in aircraft production last year; and the approach of the Thanksgiving holiday which will be stretched into a long weekend by many traders.

The 1,287 issues which appeared on the tape constituted the broadest market since Jan. 5, 1955. Of this total 1,042 declined while only 126 were able to move higher on the day.

The latter was the day's most actively traded issue, followed by Pennsylvania Railroad, up ½ point on the day.

For most of the list, however, losses of a point to 5 points were the rule.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
2 NT.	Pass	3 NT.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠.

East deserves an accolade today for a dramatic but well conceived defensive play.

South's two no trump rebid was irregular with only a singleton diamond but the alternative calls were not appealing. A mere bid of one spade seemed inadequate and yet he did not wish to make a game forcing jump to two spades. North had sufficient values to raise to three no trump.

West opened the deuce of spades and East's 10 was taken by South's queen. The club suit was attacked at once, and East ducked declarer's jack. He won the continuation with the ace as West discarded a heart. Now East made a survey of the exact distributions of both concealed hands, marking South with a singleton diamond, with the uninitiated must seem like clairvoyance. His reasoning was neat.

West's opening lead of the deuce of spades marks him with four of that suit. Since West has a singleton club he must have four diamonds and four hearts, because if his diamonds and hearts were distributed five-three he would no doubt have selected the five card suit for his opening lead. Now if West has four diamonds South can have only one.

On this line of reasoning, East shifted to the king of diamonds. While the normal lead from East's holding would be the five (fourth best), East took the added precaution to guard against South's holding the singleton queen, though if his singleton is one of the smaller cards, the lead of a low diamond would be equally effective.

With the lead of the king of diamonds declarer felt that it would be impossible to bring in his contract without resort to the heart finesse. So he tried it at once and was defeated two tricks. It was true he could have cashed eight tricks immediately but he was not interested in minor economies.

The tilt of the Leaning Tower of Pisa in Italy has increased a quarter of an inch in the last 15 years.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grain futures closed lower, with most prices weak to steady Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ¼ to off ⅜ cent; corn (old) ⅞ to 1½ cents; (new) off 1¼ to up ¼ cent; oats off ½ to ⅞ cent; rye unchanged to off ⅜ cent; soy beans off ½ to 1¼ cents.

Selling in December wheat increased and the crop went into a slight decline. On the recession, spreaders bought December and sold deferred deliveries.

Corn lost ground. There was moderate liquidation of December corn. Northwest brokers sold new March. Cash houses bought December; commission houses took May and July. The spot corn basis became easy toward the session's close.

Commission house liquidation of December oats contributed to the decline in the crop.

Soybeans were easy throughout the day. Elevator houses sold January; Northwest brokers unloaded March beans. Trade was never very active.

Grains at outside markets were steady to firm. The range:

I WANT YOU TO GET YOUR TOOLS AND PUT UP THE NEW CURTAIN RODS
BUT YOU SAID SUPPER WAS READY

SCAMP
THERE'S A CUTE LITTLE CHIPMUNK!
HI, THERE!
NERVOUS TYPE!
JULIET JONES
MARGE--I'M A LITTLE FRAYED AROUND THE EDGES FOR SO NOBLE AN EMOTION AS LOVE. I ALWAYS FIGURED THAT IT WAS STRICTLY FOR ADOLESCENTS, POETS AND MARRIAGE BROKERS...
I FURTHER ARGUED WITH MYSELF...
THAT I WAS VACCINATED AGAINST THE RAGING TORRENTS OF AMOUR, THE HEART, I SHREWDLY OBSERVED...
...WAS MERELY PART OF THE ANATOMY; BUT, MARGE, HONEY--THAT WAS BEFORE I FOUND OUT A LITTLE ITEM LIKE MISS AMNESIA COULD TURN ME INSIDE OUT WITH A LOWERING OF HER EYELASHES
HENRY
DO YOU HAVE A PIN, HENRY, PLEASE?
OUCH!
BEETLE BAILEY
BOIING
THE JERK IS TRYING TO CHOP DOWN A RUBBER TREE
BUZ SAWYER
HMM! SO YOUR GOVERNESS IS NAMED MARGE ...NOT TAJ MAHALI. TELL ME, IS SHE A BLONDE?
YES, AND RATHER PRETTY WHY?
DID SHE EVER HELP HERSELF TO YOUR WIFE'S PERFUME?
YES. BUT HOW THE SAM HILL DID YOU KNOW?
A LOGICAL DEDUCTION, UNLESS IT WAS YOUR WIFE WHO TRIED TO DO ME IN. YOU SEE, BOTH YOUR WIFE AND THE MYSTERY GAL WHO TRIED TO STAB ME USE THE SAME UNUSUAL HAWAIIAN PERFUME... PIKAKE.

Market Suffers Sharpest Loss Since Sept. 26, 1955

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock values, built up to all-time highs in recent weeks, were slashed more than six billion dollars Monday in a 4,770,000-share selling wave.

The break was the most severe for the market since Sept. 26, 1955, the first session after President Eisenhower's heart attack.

It came on volume which kept tickers running late—as much as eight minutes — through most of morning and again in the final hour of trading.

Already considered vulnerable because of the rise to new highs, the market was influenced by a number of factors, commentators said.

These included the recommendation of a leading brokerage house to cut back stock market risks; President Eisenhower's drive to keep down government costs which brought to mind the aftermath of the government cutback in aircraft production last year; and the approach of the Thanksgiving holiday which will be stretched into a long weekend by many traders.

The 1,287 issues which appeared on the tape constituted the broadest market since Jan. 5, 1955. Of this total 1,042 declined while only 126 were able to move higher on the day.

Standing out on the upside were Richfield Oil with a gain of nearly a point and American Motors, up a point on good earnings and a stock dividend declaration.

The latter was the day's most actively traded issue, followed by Pennsylvania Railroad, up ½ point on the day.

For most of the list, however, losses of a point to 5 points were the rule.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠.

East deserves an accolade today for a dramatic but well conceived defensive play.

South's two no trump rebid was irregular with only a singleton diamond but the alternative calls were not appealing. A mere bid of one spade seemed inadequate and yet he did not wish to make a game forcing jump to two spades. North had sufficient values to raise to three no trump.

West opened the deuce of spades and East's 10 was taken by South's queen. The club suit was attacked at once, and East ducked declarer's jack. He won the continuation with the ace as West discarded a heart. Now East made a survey of the exact distributions of both concealed hands, marking South with a singleton diamond, with what to the uninitiated must seem like clairvoyance. His reasoning was neat.

West's opening lead of the deuce of spades marks him with four of that suit. Since West has a singleton club he must have four diamonds and four hearts, because if his diamonds and hearts were distributed five-three he would no doubt have selected the five card suit for his opening lead. Now if West has four diamonds South can have only one.

On this line of reasoning, East shifted to the king of diamonds. While the normal lead from East's holding would be the five (fourth best), East took the added precaution to guard against South's holding the singleton queen, though if his singleton is one of the smaller cards, the lead of a low diamond would be equally effective.

With the lead of the king of diamonds declarer felt that it would be impossible to bring in his contract without resort to the heart finesse. So he tried it at once and was defeated two tricks. It was true he could have cashed eight tricks immediately but he was not interested in minor economies.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grain futures closed lower, with most prices weak to steady Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ¼ to off ⅜ cent; corn (old) ⅜ to 1½ cents; (new) off 1⅛ to up ¼ cent; oats off ½ to ⅞ cent; rye unchanged to off ⅝ cent; soy beans off ½ to 1¼ cents.

Selling in December wheat increased and the crop went into a slight decline. On the recession, spreaders bought December and sold deferred deliveries.

Corn lost ground. There was moderate liquidation of December corn. Northwest brokers sold new March. Cash houses bought December; commission houses took May and July. The spot corn basis became easy toward the session's close.

Commission house liquidation of December oats contributed to the decline in the crop.

Soybeans were easy throughout the day. Elevator houses sold January; Northwest brokers unloaded March beans. Trade was never very active.

Grains at outside markets were steady to firm. The range:

FBI Captures Iser, Who Fled Jail Here

Local Man Captured In Alabama

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents yesterday arrested Howard Maurice Iser, 37-year-old convicted robber who escaped from Allegany County Jail on November 5 by sawing his way through two windows of the local lockup.

Iser, who recently was sentenced to 10 years in the Maryland penitentiary on a charge of armed robbery, was picked up in Montgomery, Ala., by federal authorities on a warrant sworn out by James S. Getty, Allegany County state's attorney.

He is being held in the county jail at Montgomery and Mr. Getty indicated last night he will probably send Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, and another officer to Alabama to return Iser to Cumberland where the Beall Street resident will face additional charges of jail breaking.

Getty also praised the cooperation of the FBI in the search for Iser since he escaped from the local jail with Robert C. Bryant, 18, of 446 Lamont Street. Bryant later surrendered to City Police after hiding out in abandoned buildings on Oldtown Road for several days.

Iser and Bryant sawed their way out of the lockup at 7 p. m. on November 5 and set off an immediate search of the tri-state area when the escape was discovered by the sheriff's office some 16 hours later.

Bryant told police following his surrender on November 8 that he and Iser slipped through the windows on which the bars already had been cut. He said Iser had propped up the sawed off bars with match sticks while waiting to get away.

Bryant sustained some scratches on his hands while climbing over barbed wire at the jail but he said Iser was prepared and wore a pair of gloves.

In his statement to authorities the youth said they walked to the area of Dixie Inn on West Virginia Route 28 where Iser located a .22 calibre rifle and cigarets stashed in a burlap sack at the base of a tree.

The pair spent Wednesday night in the area and then split up Thursday about 10 a. m. The youth said he was afraid to go with Iser who was armed and threatened to fight if cornered.

Police were kept hopping for days tracking down various reports that Iser was still in the area but nothing was developed until the FBI reported last night they had caught him in Alabama.

City Will Seek Practical View On Easements

Corps Says Fences Should Come Down

The City of Cumberland will ask the Corps of Engineers to adopt a practical viewpoint on the presence of fences along flood control walls on North Mechanic Street.

The Corps of Engineers, a city spokesman said, report they will not accept Sections 2 and 3 of the flood protection program until people take fences off the permanent easement areas.

Work on Sections 2 and 3 is in the final stages. The contractor, the E. J. Albrecht Company, expects to be done by the middle of next month.

The Corps says the permanent easements, which extend from eight to 10 feet from the flood wall, must be kept open so crews can have access to the narrow strip to repair flood structures.

Most residents of the area have installed fences along their properties clear to the flood wall, have seeded the areas and are maintaining them as part of their properties.

Was Raceway

The City has found to its sorrow that before fences were put up, children made a play area of it, running up and down the alley.

They said numerous complaints were made and reported to the Police Department, but that enforcement was difficult, even though officers patrolled the area regularly.

The city reports that citizens who signed options for the permanent easements say they understood that when the work was finished, division fences would be replaced and set back to walls.

They said they understood that even if permanent easements were granted, the land would for all practical purposes become their back yards, which they could put in grass and control.

All of the property owners, the city reported, understood that if there were need to make repairs to the walls or repair structures beneath the permanent easement area, the City would come in and make repairs.

Hard To Maintain

The City said that before the the fences went back, it was virtually impossible to maintain the area.

Now that the division fences have gone up, people have taken the areas into their rear yards and are maintaining the easement land as well as their other property.

It was reported that if several residents were not allowed use of the easement areas, they could scarcely step off their back porches.

The City of Cumberland is informing the Corps of Engineers of the situation and is asking the Corps to take a practical view.

The City, a spokesman said, is assuming its responsibility in the easement areas, but feels it should have some latitude in the way it is to be done.

Clearville Man Is Indicted For Murder

Bedford Grand Jury Takes Action

A Bedford County grand jury yesterday indicted Marcus Means, 73-year-old Clearville, Pa., area farmer, for murder in the fatal shooting of an Everett truck driver last October 31.

Means has been held in the Bedford County Jail since his release from the hospital at Bedford on November 10. The elderly farmer was admitted to the Bedford County Memorial Hospital for surgery upon a bullet wound in his left shoulder which authorities said was self-inflicted after he shot to death Oda Clingerman, a driver for a gasoline distributing company.

The 60-year-old Clingerman was found in the rear of his truck after he had delivered gasoline to the Means farm. He was shot in the left side with a high-powered rifle.

Clingerman was slain about 4 p. m. on Friday, October 31, following an argument over the brand of gasoline being placed in the storage tank and pump on the farm. The shooting took place after Clingerman had delivered the gasoline.

A neighbor found Means in his farm home alone and wounded. He told police that Means told him "I shot Clingerman."

Clingerman had been employed by Harry Laher and Sons of Everett for 31 years.

Trial originally was set for the first day of criminal court in Bedford next Monday, but court officials said last night it has been postponed until the February term of court.

Meanwhile, Means is being held in the Bedford jail without bail.

County Native Is Killed When Car Crashes

Accident Occurs At Severna Park

A 19-year-old native of Allegany County was killed in an automobile accident Sunday night at Severna Park and Anne Arundel police have charged another teenager with manslaughter by auto and six other offenses as a result of the crash.

The victim of the auto accident was Stephen B. Wenrich of Hollywood-on-the-Severn. He suffered a fractured skull when the car in which he was riding ran off the road and slammed into a tree.

Police said the youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton "Bo" Wenrich, former residents of Ellerslie, may have lain in the wrecked car for almost an hour before he was taken to a hospital. Young Wenrich was pronounced dead on arrival at the institution.

Driver Held

Charges were placed against Russell Keyser, 19, of Elvaton Acres. He is being held at county police headquarters at Ferndale in lieu of $1,500 bond.

The dead youth's father was a former baseball player in the old Pen Mar Baseball League, having caught for Ellerslie and Barrelville nearly 25 years ago.

The family moved from Ellerslie about 16 years ago and resided in York, Pa., for some time before moving to Severna Park.

Stephen Wenrich was born in 1939 at a Cumberland hospital, one of twin sons, the other of whom died at birth. The Wenrichs have another son, Michael, 14.

W. L. Wenrich of Ellerslie is an uncle of the dead boy.

State Police said Keyser suffered a leg injury in the accident, and another occupant — Richard Hummell, 17, of Millersville — received cuts of the head and hand.

Signs Statement

Patrolman Herbert L. Drenner said Hummell gave a signed statement that Keyser was driving the death car. Drenner said Hum-

Two Boys Termed Delinquent

Two 15-year-old local youths, who were arrested last week by City Police for letting air out of automobile tires, were found guilty of being delinquent minors and sentenced at a hearing yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson ordered one of the youths sent to the Maryland Training School and placed the other youth on strict probation for six months.

Juvenile Court authorities said the youth ordered to the training school had been in trouble several times before.

Detective Kenneth Morrisey caught the two boys in the act of letting the air out of the tires of a car parked on Wineow Street. The youths told police they let air out of tires of cars parked throughout the city several nights last week.

Man Is Charged In Bank Robbery

Tavern Owner Jailed In Bedford

State police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents picked up Elmer Louis Buffy last Friday night at a tavern he operates at Shade Township. Buffy was questioned extensively since his arrest as authorities attempted to put the pieces together in their investigation of the case.

Police said they had established the fact that Buffy had borrowed a late model maroon car from Fred Leppert of Reels Corner, Pa., on the day of the robbery. Witnesses told police that the lone gunman who held up the bank at 1:10 p. m. on Thursday escaped in a late model maroon sedan.

The holdup suspect also closely answers the description of the bank bandit given to police by Chester G. Culp, manager of the branch bank. Culp described the gunman as between 28 and 32 years of age, 200 pounds and over 6 feet tall. Buffy is 30, weighs 200 pounds and is a shade over the six foot mark in height.

Buffy soon will be arraigned on the bank robbery charge. No date has been set for the arraignment however.

The Schellsburg bank was held up by the lone gunman who entered the building wearing a bandana over his face. He pointed a small caliber pistol at Culp and Mrs. Bernice Whisel, a teller, and demanded "all your money."

Culp, at the risk of his own life, defied the bandit and attempted to talk him out of the holdup, but the man threatened to shoot Mrs. Whisel and the two employes then handed him some small bills which the robber stuffed in a pocket of a plaid hunting jacket before he fled.

The gunman escaped in the maroon-colored car which was parked beside the bank, eluding road blocks which were thrown up quickly by Pennsylvania and Maryland state police on all highways leading from the Schellsburg area.

Brush Fire Is Quenched In Oldtown

Break In Wire Delays Alarm

A broken high tension line early last night set off a grass and brush fire on Allen Hill in Oldtown.

The break darkened homes in the community and put the siren used to summon members of the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Department out of commission.

John Nixon, president of the recently organized company, reported a crew of 18 men was gathered and the radiator of the fire truck filled in about 15 minutes.

Firemen had the fire under control within a few minutes and out in less than half an hour.

The work was speeded as flames were being fanned by a high wind into the path of a home.

The North Branch firemen answered the alarm, but the blaze was under control when they arrived on the scene.

Islanders Too Healthy, Dr. Kato Says Of Tangiers

TANGIER ISLAND, Va. (AP)—When Dr. Mikio Kato agreed last year to leave his home 8,000 miles behind and serve as the only doctor on this Chesapeake Bay Island, he didn't realize his patients would be so healthy.

That's why, the 34-year-old Japanese physician said Monday, he wants to leave. Not to return to Kobe, Japan, but to some other American community where he can apply and expand his skill as a healer.

"I feel as if I'm getting rusty," explained Kato.

He denied reports that he had already decided to abandon Tangier Island and its historic community of fishermen for Lonaconing, in the coal mountain country of Western Maryland. But Lonaconing is one of several places he is considering, he said.

Nineteen months on the island have brought him the warm friendship of Tangier's 1,100 or so residents. He married one of them, the former Emma Sue Crockett. One of her ancestors, John Crockett, settled Tangier in 1686.

Despite the affection he holds for the island and its people, said Kato, his stay has also convinced him he "should be doing more."

"Business is getting dull," he said.

Kato, besides being a physician, is also a surgeon.

"Some days I have only one or two patients. And then I may have none at all. It has been almost a year since I've done an operation," he recalled.

"You know I have to think about the future and there are many more things I want to learn.

"There just aren't many sick folks on the island. They're a healthy sort of people."

"Money has nothing to do with my wanting to leave. The folks here have been so good and kind, and I begin to feel sorry when I think about leaving."

Kato came to Tangier under a one-year agreement. He and Miss Crockett, who had worked as his nurse, were married six months after his arrival. He agreed to stay on another year, treating the island's ill and injured in the new $26,000 medical center built shortly before he came.

Next to the medical center, residents began building a $6,000 home for the Katos.

For his "sense of duty" and "unselfish devotion to medicine's highest ideals," the Virginia Council of Health and Medical Care last October honored Kato. He couldn't attend the presentation in Washington. A wave of flu had hit the island and he was needed there. One of his patients was also about to have a baby.

Kato said Monday he had already applied for medical licenses in other States where he may move.

"But right now I have no definite plans," he said. "I realize the need for a permanent doctor on the island and will do all I can to see that they get one."

Woodland Burned On Piney Mountain

About two acres of cut over woodland was burned yesterday afternoon in a fire near the top of Piney Mountain two miles south of U.S. Route 40 west of Cumberland.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said the apparent cause of the blaze which was reported at 3:30 p. m. was the backfire of a power saw on a timber operation in that sector.

The flames were brought under control about 4:30 p. m. by timb rmen working in the area as well as members of the forestry department including Brooke Bodkin, forest supervisor, Allen Holt, William Slider and George Brown, forest wardens.

FBI Captures Iser, Who Fled Jail Here

Local Man Captured In Alabama

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents yesterday arrested Howard Maurice Iser, 37-year-old convicted robber who escaped from Allegany County Jail on November 5 by sawing his way through two windows of the local lockup.

Iser, who recently was sentenced to 10 years in the Maryland penitentiary on a charge of armed robbery, was picked up in Montgomery, Ala., by federal authorities on a warrant sworn out by James S. Getty, Allegany County state's attorney.

He is being held in the county jail at Montgomery and Mr. Getty indicated last night he will probably send Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, and another officer to Alabama to return Iser to Cumberland where the Beall Street resident will face additional charges of jail breaking.

Getty also praised the cooperation of the FBI in the search for Iser since he escaped from the local jail with Robert C. Bryant, 18, of 446 Lamont Street. Bryant later surrendered to City Police after hiding out in abandoned buildings on Oldtown Road for several days.

Iser and Bryant sawed their way out of the lockup at 7 p. m. on November 5 and set off an immediate search of the tri-state area when the escape was discovered by the sheriff's office some 16 hours later.

Bryant told police following his surrender on November 8 that he and Iser slipped through the windows on which the bars already had been cut. He said Iser had propped up the sawed off bars with match sticks while waiting to get away.

Bryant sustained some scratches on his hands while climbing over barbed wire at the jail but he said Iser was prepared and wore a pair of gloves.

In his statement to authorities the youth said they walked to the area of Dixie Inn on West Virginia Route 28 where Iser located a .22 calibre rifle and cigarets stashed in a burlap sack at the base of a tree.

The pair spent Wednesday night in the area and then split up Thursday about 10 a. m. The youth said he was afraid to go with Iser who was armed and threatened to fight if cornered.

Police were kept hopping for days tracking down various reports that Iser was still in the area but nothing was developed until the FBI reported last night they had caught him in Alabama.

City Will Seek Practical View On Easements

Corps Says Fences Should Come Down

The City of Cumberland will ask the Corps of Engineers to adopt a practical viewpoint on the presence of fences along flood control walls on North Mechanic Street.

The Corps of Engineers, a city spokesman said, report they will not accept Sections 2 and 3 of the flood protection program until people take fences off the permanent easement areas.

Work on Sections 2 and 3 is in the final stages. The contractor, the E. J. Albrecht Company, expects to be done by the middle of next month.

The Corps says the permanent easements, which extend from eight to 10 feet from the flood wall, must be kept open so crews can have access to the narrow strip to repair flood structures.

Most residents of the area have installed fences along their properties clear to the flood wall, have seeded the areas and are maintaining them as part of their properties.

Was Raceway

The City has found to its sorrow that before fences were put up, children made a play area of it, running up and down the alley.

They said numerous complaints were made and reported to the Police Department, but that enforcement was difficult, even though officers patrolled the area regularly.

The city reports that citizens who signed options for the permanent easements say they understood that when the work was finished, division fences would be replaced and set back to walls.

They said they understood that even if permanent easements were granted, the land would for all practical purposes become their back yards, which they could put in grass and control.

All of the property owners, the city reported, understood that if there were need to make repairs to the walls or repair structures beneath the permanent easement area, the City would come in and make repairs.

Hard To Maintain

The City said that before the the fences went back, it was virtually impossible to maintain the area.

Now that the division fences have gone up, people have taken the areas into their rear yards and are maintaining the easement land as well as their other property.

It was reported that if several residents were not allowed use of the easement areas, they could scarcely step off their back porches.

The City of Cumberland is informing the Corps of Engineers of the situation and is asking the Corps to take a practical view.

The City, a spokesman said, is assuming its responsibility in the easement areas, but feels it should have some latitude in the way it is to be done.

Man Is Charged In Bank Robbery

Tavern Owner Jailed In Bedford

Pennsylvania authorities yesterday charged a 30-year-old Central City, Pa., man with the $1,020 armed robbery of the Schellsburg branch of the First National Bank of Bedford last Thursday.

State police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents picked up Elmer Louis Buffy last Friday night at a tavern he operates at Shade Township. Buffy was questioned extensively since his arrest as authorities attempted to put the pieces together in their investigation of the case.

Police said they had established the fact that Buffy had borrowed a late model maroon car from Fred Leppert of Reels Corner, Pa., on the day of the robbery. Witnesses told police that the lone gunman who held up the bank at 1:10 p. m. on Thursday escaped in a late model maroon sedan.

The holdup suspect also closely answers the description of the bank bandit given to police by Chester G. Culp, manager of the branch bank. Culp described the gunman as between 28 and 32 years of age, 200 pounds and over 6 feet tall. Buffy is 30, weighs 200 pounds and is a shade over the six foot mark in height.

Buffy soon will be arraigned on the bank robbery charge. No date has been set for the arraignment however.

The Schellsburg bank was held up by the lone gunman who entered the building wearing a bandana over his face. He pointed a small caliber pistol at Culp and Mrs. Bernice Whisel, a teller, and demanded "all your money."

Culp, at the risk of his own life, defied the bandit and attempted to talk him out of the holdup, but the man threatened to shoot Mrs. Whisel and the two employes then handed him some small bills which the robber stuffed in a pocket of a plaid hunting jacket before he fled.

The gunman escaped in the maroon-colored car which was parked beside the bank, eluding road blocks which were thrown up quickly by Pennsylvania and Maryland state police on all highways leading from the Schellsburg area.

Brush Fire Is Quenched In Oldtown

Break In Wire Delays Alarm

A broken high tension line early last night set off a grass and brush fire on Allen Hill in Oldtown.

The break darkened homes in the community and put the siren used to summon members of the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Department out of commission.

When word of the blaze was given, firemen had to resort to lung-power and to dispatch cars to gather a crew of fire fighters.

John Nixon, president of the recently organized company, reported a crew of 18 men was gathered and the radiator of the fire truck filled in about 15 minutes.

Firemen had the fire under control within a few minutes and out in less than half an hour.

The work was speeded as flames were being fanned by a high wind into the path of a home.

Bedford Grand Jury Takes Action

A Bedford County grand jury yesterday indicted Marcus Means, 73-year-old Clearville, Pa., area farmer, for murder in the fatal shooting of an Everett truck driver last October 31.

Means has been held in the Bedford County Jail since his release from the hospital at Bedford on November 10. The elderly farmer was admitted to the Bedford County Memorial Hospital for surgery upon a bullet wound in his left shoulder which authorities said was self-inflicted after he shot to death Oda Clingerman, a driver for a gasoline distributing company.

The 60-year-old Clingerman was found in the rear of his truck after he had delivered gasoline to the Means farm. He was shot in the left side with a high-powered rifle.

Clingerman was slain about 4 p. m. on Friday, October 31, following an argument over the brand of gasoline being placed in the storage tank and pump on the farm. The shooting took place after Clingerman had delivered the gasoline.

A neighbor found Means in his farm home alone and wounded. He told police that Means told him "I shot Clingerman."

Clingerman had been employed by Harry Laher and Sons of Everett for 31 years.

Trial originally was set for the first day of criminal court in Bedford next Monday, but court officials said last night it has been postponed until the February term of court.

Meanwhile, Means is being held in the Bedford jail without bail.

County Native Is Killed When Car Crashes

Accident Occurs At Severna Park

A 19-year-old native of Allegany County was killed in an automobile accident Sunday night at Severna Park and Anne Arundel police have charged another teenager with manslaughter by auto and six other offenses as a result of the crash.

The victim of the auto accident was Stephen B. Wenrich of Hollywood-on-the-Severn. He suffered a fractured skull when the car in which he was riding ran off the road and slammed into a tree.

Police said the youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton "Bo" Wenrich, former residents of Ellerslie, may have lain in the wrecked car for almost an hour before he was taken to a hospital. Young Wenrich was pronounced dead on arrival at the institution.

Driver Held

Charges were placed against Russell Keyser, 19, of Elvaton Acres. He is being held at county police headquarters at Ferndale in lieu of $1,500 bond.

The dead youth's father was a former baseball player in the old Pen Mar Baseball League, having caught for Ellerslie and Barrelville nearly 25 years ago.

The family moved from Ellerslie about 16 years ago and resided in York, Pa., for some time before moving to Severna Park.

Stephen Wenrich was born in 1939 at a Cumberland hospital, one of twin sons, the other of whom died at birth. The Wenrichs have another son, Michael, 14.

W. L. Wenrich of Ellerslie is an uncle of the dead boy.

State Police said Keyser suffered a leg injury in the accident, and another occupant — Richard Hummell, 17, of Millersville — received cuts of the head and hand.

Signs Statement

Patrolman Herbert L. Drenner said Hummell gave a signed statement that Keyser was driving the death car. Drenner said Hum-

Islanders Too Healthy, Dr. Kato Says Of Tangiers

TANGIER ISLAND, Va. (AP)— When Dr. Mikio Kato agreed last year to leave his home 8,000 miles behind and serve as the only doctor on this Chesapeake Bay Island, he didn't realize his patients would be so healthy.

That's why, the 34-year-old Japanese physician said Monday, he wants to leave. Not to return to Kobe, Japan, but to some other American community where he can apply and expand his skill as a healer.

"I feel as if I'm getting rusty," explained Kato.

He denied reports that he had already decided to abandon Tangier Island and its historic community of fishermen for Lonaconing, in the coal mountain country of Western Maryland. But Lonaconing is one of several places he is considering, he said.

Nineteen months on the island have brought him the warm friendship of Tangier's 1,100 or so residents. He married one of them, the former Emma Sue Crockett. One of her ancestors, John Crockett, settled Tangier in 1686.

Despite the affection he holds for the island and its people, said Kato, his stay has also convinced him he "should be doing more."

"Business is getting dull," he said.

Kato, besides being a physician, is also a surgeon.

"Some days I have only one or two patients. And then I may have none at all. It has been almost a year since I've done an operation," he recalled.

"You know I have to think about the future and there are many more things I want to learn.

"There just aren't many sick folks on the island. They're a healthy sort of people."

"Money has nothing to do with my wanting to leave. The folks here have been so good and kind, and I begin to feel sorry when I think about leaving."

Kato came to Tangier under a one-year agreement. He and Miss Crockett, who had worked as his nurse, were married six months after his arrival. He agreed to stay on another year, treating the island's ill and injured in the new $26,000 medical center built shortly before he came.

Next to the medical center, residents began building a $6,000 home for the Katos.

For his "sense of duty" and "unselfish devotion to medicine's highest ideals," the Virginia Council of Health and Medical Care last October honored Kato. He couldn't attend the presentation in Washington. A wave of flu had hit the island and he was needed there. One of his patients was also about to have a baby.

Kato said Monday he had already applied for medical licenses in other States where he may move.

"But right now I have no definite plans," he said. "I realize the need for a permanent doctor on the island and will do all I can to see that they get one."
